Primary holds few surprises

BY BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

Monday's primary election in Romulus produced few surprises as a mere handful of voters made incumbent Mayor William M. Oakley the high vote-getter in the mayor's race.

Clerk Leonard J. Folmar, said 3,107 residents, about 22 percent of the city's registered voters, went to the polls.

Unofficial tabulations showed Oakley pulling 1,744 votes to 1,157 for Mel Morgan, local businessman and developer, who has vowed to wage an all-out campaign to unseat the mayor. Harry W. Nelson, third man in the race, garnered only 204 votes.

A heavy influx of ads and a political tabloid which appeared as an insert in the local newspaper recently attest to Morgan's well-managed campaign to win the mayor's chair.

As the campaign winds down to the general election on Tuesday, Nov. 6, the mayoral race is expected to go down to the wire between Morgan and Oakley in the eyes of political observers close to city hall.

With only incumbent Folmar and challenger Jerry Kubiak running for clerk, no primary was held for that office. Kubiak, who was ordinance officer under both former mayors Terry Trout and James Steward, was fired by the latter before his term expired.

The contest for treasurer produced a mild upset as veteran council member Beverly McAnally topped incumbent Helen M. Gallien 1,108-1,093. Coming in third with 789 votes and losing the nomination was former Treas. John B. Lewkowicz, who was defeated in the last city election by Gallien.

Therefore, the general election will see Morgan and Oakley thrash it out for mayor, McAnally and Gallien for treasurer, and Folmar and Kubiak for clerk.

With 18 candidates seeking the nominations for council, four had to be eliminated. They were: Lowell E. Giles - 414 votes, Charles W. Hazen - 429, Robert N. Knight - 586, and Edward Thomas Jr. - 412.

The list of 14 candidates who will battle it out in the general election are: Mary Ann Banks, top vote-getter with 1,938, Wayne Avery - 628, Barry Baumann - 973, Fred Block Jr. - 1,426, Richard F. Campbell - 605, Gerry Canejo - 1,425, Ray Cantrell - 1,161, Mary L. Carter - 953, Charles J. Dick Jr. - 600, Edward D. Fall - 690, Shirlee M. Helms - 596, Jimmie C. Raspberry - 1,413, Edward A. Rush - 1,280, and Richard K. Yeramian - 847.

Of interest in the council race was the poor showing made by Hazen, who formerly served as the city's industrial coordinator, and the strong race run by Rush.

Rush last year sued the city over what he alleged to be a closed council meeting in violation of the state's recently enacted Open Meetings Act. Following several court hearings, the case was dropped when council agreed to pay Rush's attorney fees after the presiding judge indicated council would lose the suit if it continued.

Action to pay Rush's legal fees came upon advice of the city attorney, Charles Lowther.

Cable television debut awaits council okay

BY BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

Cable television may soon make its debut in the city of Romulus.

Promoters of cable TV, which brings television signals directly to the home from telephone-like lines, formerly tried to develop out-of-the-way areas where ordinary straight-line signals were deflected away.

Now, they are pushing their product in metropolitan areas where television reception is good to excellent, but for another reason. Cable TV promoters are able to give subscribers more channels to choose from, as well as special channels for sports, news, weather, religion, senior citizens, etc.

Last week, three cable TV companies were peddling their wares in Romulus and surrounding communities. Mayor William M. Oakley, Jay Young, public information officer, and Clerk Leonard J. Folmar listened to presentations made by representatives of United Cable Television Corp., Englewood, Colo.; Wayne Cablevision, Inc., a subsidiary of Maclean-Hunter Ltd. of Toronto; and Omnicom of Plymouth, Mich.

Young told the Roman that the three-member group would make a recommendation to city council which must give its approval before one of the three cable TV firms can get a franchise for local operations. The recommendation could come at the next council session on Sept. 25.

Currently, 16 downriver communities have been given the pitch by cable TV companies, with three granting franchises, another four with approval pending, and the remainder mulling over the service.

Young said all three firms presented similar proposals.

"All three firms offered us 35 channels, almost identical service charges and installation fees and a similar program format," said Young.

With locally placed television reception antennas picking up signals from satellites or by microwave, Romulus television viewers will be able to get stations from places like Chicago if they choose.

Monthly charge for cable TV among the three companies varies from a low of $6.95 to a high of $7.95. A similar situation holds true in "home box office" movies where charges would range from $6.95 to $9 monthly.

After posting a performance bond in the neighborhood of $50,000, the cable TV firm granted the local franchise will pay a percentage of its yearly gross revenues to the city following payment of an initial amount. (One company offers $25,000 for its initial payment.)

Young explained that two of the three cable TV companies offered 3 percent of annual gross revenues, while the third said it would give 5 percent. However, he said the other two firms said they were doubtful that the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) would grant the required waiver for the firm to pay the higher amount.

Foremost among claims made by cable TV companies is the improved reception and a revolutionary new service called "local access" utilizing two-way communication.

Under that feature of their service, one channel would be set aside whereby such events as city council

Only five days to live

Signs of candidates running in Monday's primary election are shown on Wayne Road just south of Romulus High School. All but three of the total of 26 persons seeking nominations signed pledges to take down their political signs within five days after the election. The brainchild of the city's Beautification Committee, the new sign takedown format will be tried again in the Nov. 6 general city election. (Photo by Tom Greenwood, ANP staff photographer.)

Huron supt. puts part blame on 2 trustees for levy defeat

Telling it like it is, newly-appointed Huron Public Schools Supt. Curtis D. Bartz put partial blame for Monday's defeat of a 3.5-mill additional levy for one year squarely on the shoulders of two school board trustees.

Curtis' predecessor, Byron Antcliff, also had his troubles with some members of the board and left earlier this year after reaching an "agreement" with the board.

Following the defeat of the millage levy by a 731-626 margin, Bartz issued a prepared statement:

"Yesterday, the majority of the voting citizens of the Huron School District decided to fight inflation with school taxes by defeating a needed tax increase.

"Part of our problem was that the total school board was not convinced that the money was actually needed to operate even a minimum program. We will all have ample opportunity through the school year to become convinced that the need was and is here.

"As we cut programs further, many adults and all of the students will be affected by the defeat."

In his remark that not all school board trustees felt the millage was needed, the superintendent referred to the split vote in July by the school board to place the millage question on the ballot Sept. 10.

At that time, George Angel, a long-time critic of school board policy and of township operation, and Bob Lemieux voted against putting the millage question on the ballot.

Curtis' statement, coming after only a few months as head of the Huron school district, is seen as his willingness to confront his bosses (school board) squarely in his efforts to get the job done.

The inevitable next millage election will reflect whether school district voters are going to side with millage detractors or the guiding hand of the new school head.

Backed by city clerk

Task force to study new civil service

Romulus City Hall employees could soon have a unique type of civil service program that differs markedly from the "traditional" type now in use at many governmental agencies.

After submission of a civil service ordinance to city council last week by Clerk Leonard J. Folmar, council members formed a seven-member task force to review civil service programs now in effect throughout Michigan. Following the holding of several public hearings, the group will make its recommendation on a civil service program for the city of Romulus.

Serving on the task force are: Council member Beverly McAnally, Sandy Spjut, city personnel director; Rita McClennon, deputy treasurer; Vivian Armstrong, building department clerk; Diana Lovenduski, department of public works employee; Robert Poet; and Richard Campbell.

Several months ago, Folmar and the city attorney, at the request of council, revised a civil service ordinance which had been prepared several years ago.

Commenting on the new CS ordinance, Folmar said, "The new civil service ordinance would be good for the city because it provides for a career program for city employees, including incentives."

Also, the revised ordinance will offer a clarification of employee rights since the union came to city hall back in 1966, he said.

These include guidelines for: salary establishment, fringe benefits, promotional opportunities, and selection of employee criteria.

Folmar criticized what he called "traditional" civil service because it would conflict with the city charter in regard to department heads. He said that type covers all city employees and makes no provision for the mayor's right under the city charter to hire and fire department heads.

"If we had the traditional civil service, the mayor would have to appoint persons over those now serving as department heads and would have to give them new titles, such as director," Folmar explained.

Under the new revised CS plan, the clerk said department heads would be excluded from grievance procedures and would not be covered under the program. Only personnel "other than department heads" would be included under the new CS plan, he added.

"In this respect, the new revised civil service ordinance would comply with our city charter," he said.

Also, under the new plan, the complete work experience of all employees would be covered during their entire time of service with the city, the clerk said.

Five Points to become 4 in Romulus

Pending federal funding, the famous Five Points in Romulus will become Four Points, the same as most other intersections.

City Council last week voted unanimously to close Ozga Street, one of the five roadways converging at the intersection, as recommended by the Michigan Department of Highways and Transportation.

Results of a traffic count showed volume of traffic on Ozga to be quite small as compared to the other four roads at the corner.

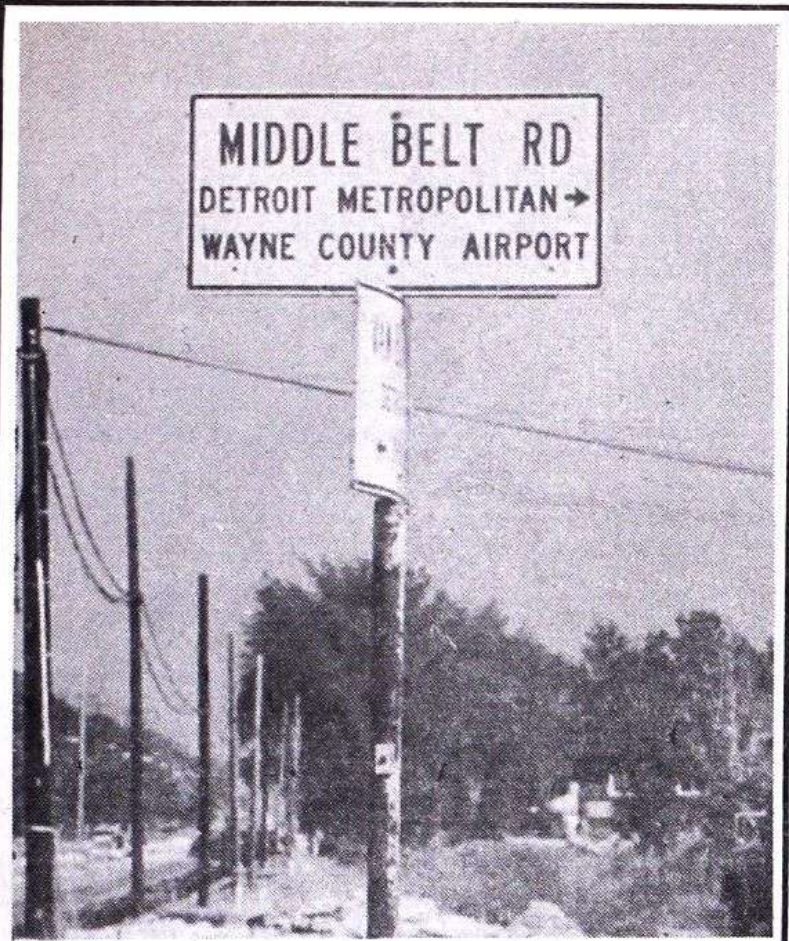

As recommended, curbing for Ozga at Five Points and paving of Jones Street will cost an estimated $25,000. David J. Paul, director of the city DPW, recommended to the mayor that the city apply for federal funds to pay for 90 percent of the total cost of the project. He said the city would pay the remaining 10 percent.

Answer for inflation

Asked what he would do about inflation, U.S. Sen. Don Riegle last Tuesday told the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce, "Carter should appoint a panel of experts outside his administration instead of

Which is right?

In traveling from one border of the city of Romulus to another, residents may find street signs somewhat conflicting. At the Van Born Road intersection, a county road sign lets motorists know that Middlebelt Road is spelled as "Middle Belt Road", while further along the thoroughfare, another county sign proudly proclaims the street name is spelled as "Middlebelt Road". No matter how it is spelled, the signs are accurate as to which street is which.—ANP photos by Tom Greenwood.

Bullard proposal would help cope with disastrous plant closings Legislation to help communities cope with disastrous effects of plant closings will be introduced this month by State Rep. Perry Bullard (D-Ann Arbor).

"There is an immediate loss of a community's and school tax base when a business leaves a community," Bullard said. "Unemployment increases and the small business person immediately loses customers because people relocate or cannot afford to buy products. The entire community suffers."

"This legislation," he continued, "would give communities, small businesses, and workers a fighting chance."

The major provision of the bill is a 2-year pre-notification to employees, the community and the state prior to a pending plant closing or relocation. The bill would apply only to businesses which employ one hundred or more people. After pre-notification, a 3-pronged approach to the problem would occur.

First, additional employee benefits would be granted by the company. Second, a community service committee within the community will be formed. Third, the state would supply support and technical assistance from the various departments to be coordinated by the Department of Labor.

"The need for this legislation in Michigan is paramount," Bullard said. "At the present time, the state has no official means of knowing when a plant closing occurs other than through the media and other informal methods. The pre-notification requirement would remedy the problem, plus allow the community enough time to provide alternatives to the loss of employment that the community will have to face."

"We know the problem is serious simply by reading the papers. Five thousand jobs will be lost at Dodge Main; close to 1,000 Chrysler jobs have been lost in Lyons; another 400 have been lost in Monroe. And in my own district, Syco Corporation may be planning to move 600 jobs out of the state following a conglomerate takeover."

Rep. Bullard said the bill would have a positive impact on the Michigan business climate.

"Retail and service businesses will benefit from greater work force stability and community planning to minimize the impact of factory closings," Bullard continued. "In most cases, those employers facing the legislation requirements would be the multi-national conglomerates who have little concern about the future of communities in Michigan."

Bullard said legislation also has been proposed at the national level. Congressman William Ford (D-Michigan) and Sen. Donald Riegle (D-Michigan) have proposed the National Employment Priorities Act of 1979 (SB 1608 and HR 3187). Sen. Harrison Williams, chair of the Senate Subcommittee on Labor, has introduced similar legislation.

On a state level, many northeast industrial states are considering similar plant closing-community self-help legislation. Ohio and Massachusetts have introduced such proposals. Oregon, New York, Connecticut and New Jersey are readying their versions for introduction.

Rep. Bullard plans to hold public hearings on his proposal throughout the state this fall.

YWCA Romulus Nursery holds orientation tomorrow

The Young Women's Christian Association (YWCA) of Western Wayne County will hold orientation for its Romulus nursery tomorrow. Registration and orientation will take place in the Oakbrook Townhouses' clubhouse at 15001 Brandt Road at Eureka.

The nursery is the only cooperative nursery in the Romulus community.

Two sessions — at 1 and 7 p.m. — of orientation have been scheduled. The YWCA nursery is open to youngsters who will be 3 and 4 years old on or before Dec. 1. Tuition is $11 per month, however, enrollment is limited to Western Wayne County residents who are YWCA members.

The nursery is state licensed. There are limited number of openings for the fall session, which will begin the week of Sept. 25. Both morning and afternoon sessions are available.

The instructor will be Mrs. Marilyn Garner, who stressed that a cooperative nursery experience is beneficial to both parents and their children, providing them with the opportunity to share while learning.

The YWCA's other nursery in Romulus, which had been located at Mt. Pleasant School, will be com-binning its enrollment with the Oakbrook nursery through January, when it will move into a permanent location in downtown Romulus.

For further information on the nursery, contact nursery chairperson Kim Linton at 941-0067.

MUSICAL NOTES

by Doug Brown

Dance music from America encompasses a wide range, more than just Lawrence Welk, American Bandstand and Square dancing. Actually, Lawrence Welk is not part of native tradition, but by this time, he certainly qualifies as one. It would be impossible to describe all of the American dances in this column, but they do come from such sources as the harmonica and guitar music dances of the Florida migrant camps, west African and percussion sounds, and dances from nationality groups. In addition, they are greatly influenced by groups from American Indians, Mexican Americans and the Cajuns.

At DOUG BROWN MUSIC, 9219 S. Wayne, Romulus, 941-8484 you will find a wide range of pianos and organs depending on your budget and musical requirements. Come on by at your convenience and let us demonstrate the instruments that appeal most to you. Master Charge and Visa honored.

Arraignment slated in airport murder

A 39-year-old Riverview man is being held without bond in the Wayne County Jail on charges stemming from the shooting of his estranged wife and the death of a member of the faculty of the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

H-sung Chung will be arraigned on a charge of second-degree murder in the shooting death of Dr. Carl Rasmussen, 33, in Wayne County Circuit Court Sept. 13. He also is charged with assault with the intent to commit murder in the wounding of his wife, Dr. Soon P. Chung, and possession of a firearm in the commission of a felony.

According to police reports, Chung allegedly shot his wife and Rasmussen in the early hours of Aug. 15 on the third level of a parking structure of Detroit Metropolitan Airport in Romulus. Reportedly, he was upset over the breakup of his marriage.

Police apprehended Chung about 15 minutes after the shooting incident. He was found, walking along the I-94 Freeway near the airport.

Wayne County Sheriff's deputies said Rasmussen, who was an assistant professor of mathematics at the university, had accompanied Mrs. Chung to the airport to pick up her 7-year-old daughter, Sonia, who was returning from a stay with relatives on the West Coast.

Mrs. Chung, 33, who at one point was listed as in critical condition, was released from Wayne County General Hospital Aug. 28.

Space World hires public relations firm

Space World, Inc. is so confident that it finally will get to build its $32 million theme park near New Boston that it has hired a Troy public relations firm to promote the project.

Proposed for a 132-acre tract, the lunar-oriented recreational park has been beset with legal obstacles by a handful of residents who live near where it would be built.

Those residents complained that the park would bring traffic problems, dust, noise and unsavory characters to the Huron Township community.

Huron Township Sup. Roy Raker last week said the township had complied with a Wayne County Circuit Court order stipulating the holding of several hearings to air citizen complaints.

Now, he explained, the township would notify the court that it had fulfilled its order and that Space World had been approved for the theme park project by both the planning commission and the zoning board of appeals.

Space World is headed by Dr. Philip Austin of Livonia, who has worked with NASA. McMaster Associates, the public relations firm he hired, said Austin dreamed up the idea of Space World and "has been managing the theme park through the morass of governmental, judicial and financial obstacles for three years."

Austin had said earlier that Space World would not be financed by grants or bond drives, but through private contributions.

During the time that Austin has tried to get his lunar park off the ground, the bulk of Huron Township residents seemed to favor the project, mainly because of the big boost in economic considerations and the additional tax money it would bring to township coffers.

VB board to decide Belleville Lake level

Will Belleville Lake be lowered or not?

That question was expected to be answered last night by the Van Buren Township Board as it pondered a recommendation made by the Lake Level Commission not to lower the lake the usual three feet as in past years.

Sup. Pat Cullin said the commission's conclusion supported a $30,000 federally subsidized study made by an Ann Arbor firm that high lake levels would not harm the Old French Landing Dam.

She said the lake level annually was lowered by about a yard to relieve pressure on the dam from high waters and to minimize flooding downstream.

After the study showed that the dam could safely contain high waters in Belleville Lake, Cullin said the lake probably would be lowered from eight to 12 inches only.

After the dam was phased out by Detroit Edison as a means of electrical power, it had only been used in recent years to control the level of the lake.

Currently, a three-year project costing more than $3 million and to be paid for federal grants will breathe new life into the old dam and will see it cranking out increased electrical power from improved generating equipment.

Chosen from many applicants for federal aid, the local dam will serve as a model for restoration of small dams across the nation. Work on the dam will be performed by pre-apprentices who will learn various trades for future work with area union projects.

50 Cheer as canine is saved from sewer

A poignant drama of life and death unfolded before some 40 residents of the Meadows Subdivision in Romulus last week, the main characters being a springer spaniel named "Princess" and members of the City Animal Control and DPW.

The setting was a 10-inch storm sewer located on Leroy Street, just east of Middlebelt Road.

The spaniel, bred for its hunting abilities, had somehow become lodged in the pipe under the middle of the street. His barks, amplified throughout the drainage system, attracted the attention of nearby residents, who called animal control officers Bob Moody and Pat Mattox to the rescue.

The problem facing the officers was how to lure the dog to one end of the tunnel. One brave citizen clambered down the manhole and could see the dog's eyes, but was unable to reach him.

City Councilman Fred "Junior" Block happened along and conveniently produced a freshly-opened can of dog food, which was lowered to the dog, but without results.

By this time, several hours had elapsed and the dogs' barks were growing perceptibly weaker.

A hose was hooked to a nearby hydrant to flush the dog out, and Larry Lindemuth, a dog lover from the DPW, climbed down the drain opening and managed to lure Princess back to his end.

Carefully, with the aid of a restraining rope and gloves, he gently lifted her out to the applause of the nearly 50 people present.

The owner was called and Princess was soon safely on her way home.

One spectator commented it had provided him with more entertainment than an evening's television.

Others said they had met more neighbors that night than in several previous months.

"All in a day's work," commented officer Moody.

In brief

3 Fail to sign pledge

With the city primary election over Monday, only three candidates for public office in Romulus failed to submit cards pledging to remove their political signs within five days after the election.

The three candidates are: candidate for mayor, Harry W. Nelson, and candidates for city council, Charles W. Hazen and Edward Thomas, Jr.

All 26 candidates running for office were notified several weeks ago by the Beautification Committee of the voluntary political sign pledge program.

The Roman agreed to print the names of those who did not sign as a way of supporting this unique approach to city beautification.

The effectiveness of the Beautification Committee's program will not be known until this coming Saturday.

The ultimate success of the program must hang in the balance until after the general election in November.

Veteran political observers said there were a far greater number and variety of signs this year than in recent elections.

Student response excellent to summer career program

A Career Exploration Summer Program was offered with great success to Romulus students from June 20 through July 31, 1979, at the Romulus Senior High School, through the CETA Title III Career Resource Center. The purpose of the program was to provide a transition to bridge the gap between school and work.

The program focused on small group activities in a comprehensive setting geared for exploration of various occupation.

The goals of the program included career exploration, pre-employment experiences, vocational clarification, decision-making, employability skills and job shadowing.

Students chose six out of eight career areas to explore during the six weeks. The eight areas offered were: commercial foods, welding, charm and grooming, auto, health, building trades, interior decorating, and leisure time activities. Each career area was explored for one week.

In the commercial foods career class, 12 foods occupations were explored. As a learning experience, students planned a menu, prepared the food, and operated a restaurant for the rest of the students and staff. Field trips were taken to Eastern Market to explore the wholesale food business. In order to compare an extensive commercial foods operation with a fast-food operation, a visit was made to Host International Kitchens and McDonald's.

Protective face shields covered concentrated expressions as sparks went flying in the welding careers class. Students were introduced to various types of welding, occupational opportunities, and related welding fields. They tested their newly-learned techniques in craft welding by fashioning metal airplanes.

Automotive careers students performed diagnostic analysis on each car serviced and completed minor repairs. Field trips were taken to the Ford Rouge Assembly Plant and the Jack Demmer Ford dealership to explore the numerous occupations in this business.

Charm and grooming encompassed interviewing techniques, appropriate dress for various professions, and using proper manners. The culminating project was a trip to the Sheraton Motor Inn in Romulus to put into effect the areas discussed.

Preparing a floor for concrete and building a deck were some of the experiences the building trades class realized while on an actual construction site.

Interior decorating tackled an extensive project of remodeling the teacher's lounge at the high school. Students planned, designed, painted, paneled, built shelves and became aware of all the preparation work and cleanup involved in this occupation.

The leisure time activities class participated in racquetball, bowling, archery, tennis, roller skating, golfing and an art fair. Entry level occupations were explored. The students compared past and present working conditions during a trip to Greenfield Village.

Job shadowing experiences were offered to interested students. This involves an actual on-the-job observation. As a result of the welding class, two interested students, Ray Frazier and Mark Inch, also accomplished an in-depth study of welding at the senior high's career resource center and visited M.B.M. Manufacturing in Romulus for a job shadowing experience.

After witnessing actual on-the-job welding in a real work situation, Ray was convinced to study welding as a career. Mark also was interested, but wants to explore other occupations as well.

After completing commercial foods, Bill Brind and Sharon Stewart decided to further explore the area of baking and visited Romulus Home Bakery for observation. Bill has since been offered a part-time job as a baker's assistant and is very pleased with his new employment. Roxanne Bagley was fascinated in watching Doreen McEvelly, secretary to the school district's superintendent. Roxanne is very interested in the secretarial field and has decided to pursue this career. Jackie Larkins is scheduled for a shadowing experience with Romulus Community Schools Special Services to observe an audio therapist.

The culminating activity of the summer program was a picnic at Lower Huron Metro Park. Every student received a certificate for successfully completing the program.

Student response to the summer program was very positive. Ninety percent said they wanted to take the class again next year. One student who had been suspended repeatedly remarked, "It was the best experience I ever had in school and I would do it all over again." Another comment was: "It was the greatest summer school around."

All students not on vacation

3 Firms vie for cable TV

sessions, school board meetings and local plays could be broadcast locally. The company would bring the television cameras to the scene of the local broadcast.

Time needed to put cable TV into operation ranges from a year to two years, Young said, depending upon the firm chosen.

Installation fee for subscribers would vary from $15 to $25, with one firm offering to waive the charge for the first 30 days as an incentive to local residents.

Young said the cost of installing cable TV in Romulus would be in the one to two million dollar range. All franchises would be for 15 years, subject to breaking of the contract by the city should the cable TV firm fail to serve out the length of the contract.

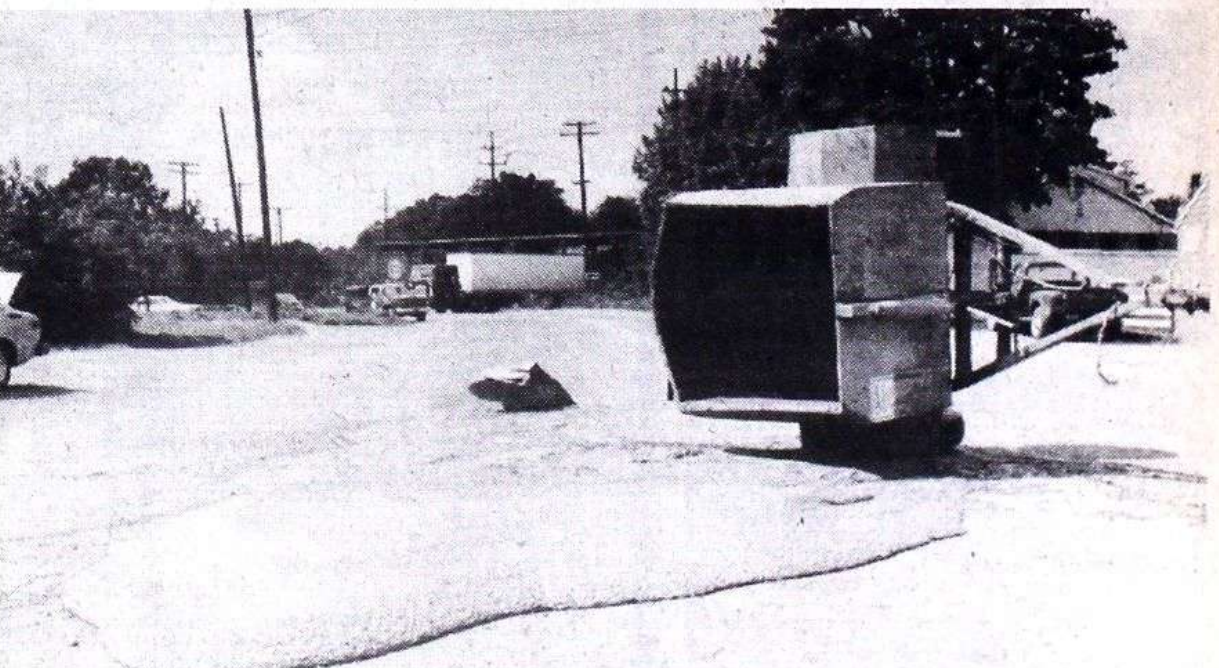

In the future, Young said, the companies can use two-way service for reporting of fire, police and emergency medical calls to the appropriate agency. A similar plan was proposed recently by Westland Mayor Tom Taylor for the residents of his community.

About a year ago, Wayne

Cablevision built a tower in Romulus at the rear of Shady Hollow Golf Course for satellite reception. The installation is not connected with the current presentation to the city, Young said.

The Huron Valley Mother of Twins Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Sept. 17, 1979 at the Westminster Presbyterian Church, 1914 Greenview, Ann Arbor.

New location

Meredith Electronics recently moved from 10805 Borgman St. to a new location at 151 Main St. in Belleville. The firm has taken on the Sanyo brand of television and home and car stereo equipment and will sell and service its products. Meredith Van Valkenburgh, owner, will handle the service department, while sales and sales promotion will be the responsibility of Anthony Petta. Hours of Meredith's new store will be 9 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday, and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Letter pleads case for county's Day at Jackson project

In an attempt to save the "Day at Jackson" juvenile offender program, co-chairwomen of the Wayne County project Jackie L. Currie and Mary E. Dumas last week sent personal letters to Gov. William Milliken and Perry Johnson, director of the Michigan Department of Corrections, asking for its continuation on the grounds that it was not given adequate time for proper evaluation.

The action followed two weeks of meetings by members of the Day at Jackson (DAJAC) Advisory Council and a special response committee, established to design protest action. A 60-day suspension, which Wayne County Commissioners Currie and Dumas fear will lead to the permanent demise of the program, ends Sept. 16.

"Our committee," the letters pointed out, "has reviewed the Department of Correction's Evaluation of 'JOLT' (a special Jackson Prison juvenile project conducted by hard-core prisoners who introduce young offenders to the horrors of prison life) and while it is agreed that the statistical analysis is valid, we believe that six months is not sufficient time to produce concrete conclusions on long-range effectiveness of either 'JOLT' or 'Day at Jackson'.

"It was our understanding that from a prior communication from Kenneth Frankland, legal counsel for the State of Michigan, dated June 6, 1979, that the program probably would be continued for another six months in order to produce adequate data for an analysis.

"The 'Day at Jackson' and 'JOLT' have received wide community support from the Juvenile Courts, New Detroit Inc., Detroit Public Schools, Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas, Western Wayne County police departments, private industry and from such organizations as the Jaycees, Chamber of Commerce and parents of youngsters who have participated in the program."

According to Commissioners Currie and Dumas, the advisory council includes many highly placed representatives of government, labor, industry and the public many of whom have agreed to send letters of commitment in support of both projects.

Warning issued

Federal safety experts are urging consumers to make certain that professionals safely install urea formaldehyde foam insulation in homes.

According to officials of the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, improper installation of urea formaldehyde insulation may cause the release of formaldehyde gas into living areas and the development of adverse health effects.

To reduce the chances of potentially hazardous installation, consumers should:

—Ask the insulation contractor or his representative, if the installer has received factory training in correct application procedures.

—Request to see the installer's certificate or identification card verifying that he has received such instruction.

WHAT SHOULD THE DECEASED WEAR?

Clothing helps to express the unique characteristics of an individual. Even in death, clothing can convey the special personality of the deceased. In the planning of funeral details, the matter of clothing for the deceased should not be overlooked.

Has there been a request in the past from the deceased concerning his or her own feelings? Sometimes a uniform of office or volunteer leadership has been requested, because of the significance to the deceased. Medals and jewelry may be considered to complete the uniform or dress.

Is clothing worn by the deceased during lifetime appropriate? By all means. A suit or dress which was a particular favorite of the deceased—or the survivor—may be the prime consideration.

We invite your questions and will answer them privately or publicly through this column.

July 11 disaster loan deadlines draw near

The Small Business Administration has announced, as a reminder, the closing date for acceptance of Physical Disaster Loan Applications from homeowners, tenants and businesses in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Monroe and Washtenaw counties that suffered property damage due to flooding from the severe thunderstorms which occurred on July 11 and July 13.

Under the SBA Disaster Program, persons who own or rent homes or businesses that were damaged or destroyed as a direct result of the disaster, and persons who suffered personal property losses may apply for direct low interest rate Physical Disaster Loans to restore their properties to pre-disaster condition. Businesses that have suffered economic injury as a direct result of this disaster, may apply for an Economic Injury Disaster Loan. Such businesses are required to submit documentation showing that the economic injury suffered was directly attributable to the disaster.

Funds received from these loans may be used to provide working capital and to meet financial obligations that otherwise would have been met had the disaster not occurred. Where possible, and without causing undue hardship, a business must use its own assets or credit from the private sector, if available.

Interest rates on primary residence and personal property disaster loans are three percent per year. Interest rates on SBA Business Disaster Loans where credit is not obtainable from private sources and where refinancing is not involved is 5 percent. Interest rates on Business Disaster Loans which, in SBA's judgement are obtainable from non-federal credit sources, is 7 3/4 percent.

Physical Disaster Loan Applications must be filed on or before Sept. 19. Business Economic Injury Disaster Loan Applications must be filed on or before April 30, 1980.

The SBA Disaster Branch Office is located on the mezzanine floor of the McNamara Federal Building, 477 Michigan Avenue, Detroit. Call 226-4030.

In the armed forces

Mills promoted to technical sergeant's rank

John H. Mills, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Mills of Crockett Drive, Marietta, Ga., and whose wife Elaine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester McLaughlin of Carleton, has been promoted to the rank of technical sergeant in the U.S. Air Force.

Sgt. Mills is a security supervisor at Zaragoza Air Base, Spain, and serves with a unit of the U.S. Air Forces in Europe.

Also in the armed forces:

Kenneth R. Lee, 21, of Huron River Drive, Romulus, has entered the U.S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program (DEP).

According to S. Sgt. Danny Caldwell, Air Force recruiter, Lee will commence four years active duty on Dec. 14, undergoing six weeks of basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

The Air Force has guaranteed that Lee, a 1975 graduate of Annapolis High School, will then receive special purpose vehicle mechanic training, and upon completion be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

Navy Seaman Recruit Robert W. Hayes, the son of Harley V. and Theo D. Hayes of Belleville Road, Belleville, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the 8-week training cycle, he studied general military subjects designed to prepare him for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic occupational fields.

Included in his studies were seamanship, close-order drill, Naval history and first aid.

A 1979 graduate of Belleville High School, he joined the Navy in June 1979.

Marine Sgt. Chris E. Amis, the son of William E. and Nancy Amis of Rawsonville Road, Belleville, has completed the Basic Avionics (aviation electronics) Technician Course.

During the 15-week course at the Naval Air Technical Training Center at Millington, Tenn., the students received instruction on the fundamentals of electronic circuitry and were introduced to the wide variety of electronic equipment items currently installed aboard Navy and Marine Corps Aircraft. They studied airborne radar, communication and computer equipment, plus the technical manuals, safety precautions and troubleshooting procedures used for maintaining each.

A 1975 graduate of Lincoln High School in Ypsilanti, he joined the Marine Corps in June 1975.

Taking a spin

As Superride '79 honorary chairman, Detroit Tiger Ron LeFlore takes a spin around his own neighborhood with Eric Borsuk (from left), Debbie Tennant and Tony Pounds in preparation for the ninth annual March of Dimes Superride. The 75-kilometer ride will be held on two days at four locations — Metropolitan Beach and Grosse Ile on Sept. 22 and at Belle Isle and Camp Dearborn on Sept. 23. To register, call the Superride Hotline at 863-3000.

THANK YOU
CITIZENS OF ROMULUS

Mayor William M. Oakley

Your support in this election is an expression that you want and deserve a stable, professional city government, based on realistic goals, straight answers and service to citizens.

I have based my first term in office on these objectives and pledge to maintain the same high standards for a second term.

However, to do that, I need your help. Together, we have taken the first step; let's do it again on Tuesday, Nov. 6.

Sincerely,

William M. Oakley

'Horse-keeping'

The half Arabian gelding, El Cilles Ripple, will be used to demonstrate proper horse care methods in a new suburban horse-keeping class being offered through the Romulus Community Schools Adult Education Program. The class will emphasize practical experience, with students cleaning tack and balancing feed rations. For further information on the class call 941-0610.

Adult ed class teaches suburban 'horse-keeping'

Area residents will be offered a new class on horse-keeping this fall. Housekeeping? No, horse-keeping, or the art of caring for a horse.

In 1978 horsemen spent $259,321,928 to feed and care for their horses, and $147,177,155 to equip and saddle them. Many of these dollars were spent for backyard pleasure horses, who make their homes in suburban or small town settings. Caring for a horse in an urban environment presents a challenge, and feeding a horse on a limited budget requires planning.

"Suburban horse-keeping is being taught by a gal who has managed to keep her horses in Romulus on a tight budget, initially on babysitting wages. She has raised colts, dabbled in showing and competitive trail riding. The topics to be covered include zoning, manure and feed storage, fly and parasite control, feeding and farriers," said Charlotte McBride. "The accent on this class will be practical experience, with students cleaning tack and balancing feed rations."

"Guest speakers, field trips and demonstrations will illustrate key points. We want to welcome those persons not currently owning a horse, as well as horsemen, feeling that the class has something for everyone."

The class is offered by the Romulus Community Schools Adult Education program and will run 10 weeks on Tuesday nights. It's open to anyone 16 years and older and is not restricted to Romulus residents. Registration is $15 and closes on Sept. 17.

Information can be obtained by calling 941-0610.

BEST ROUTES, PARKING AREAS
FOR U of M STADIUM

Best route

If you're one of the lucky ones who will be attending the Michigan Notre Dame Football game in Ann Arbor Saturday, plan on arriving at the stadium area about one hour before the 3:20 p.m. kickoff. The Automobile Club of Michigan recommends that all football fans coming from outside the Ann Arbor area take I-94 to the Saline Road exit, which will be one-way inbound before the game and one way outbound afterward. Motorists should avoid the Maple and Miller roads area because of construction. No other major construction projects are planned on main routes leading to the stadium. There is parking for about 10,000 cars within easy walking distance of the stadium. More than 105,000 persons are expected to attend the game.

Real estate classes to be offered by UM

Several courses will be offered in Ann Arbor this fall by the statewide Real Estate Program of the University of Michigan.

Real Estate Business I begins tomorrow and meets Thursdays from 6:30 to 10 p.m. in Room 141. Real Property Management begins tonight and meets Wednesdays from 7 to 10 p.m. in Room 165.

The classes run for 11 sessions and will be held at the Graduate School of Business Administration, Monroe at Tappan.

Real Estate Business I is a residential sales course designed as a practical introduction to problems arising in day-to-day real estate transactions. The management course covers the fundamentals of property management as applied to income-producing properties.

Although advance registration for the courses is advised, students may also register at the class site prior to the opening session.

The University of Michigan Real Estate Program, now in its 33rd year, offers courses for the professional benefit of both experienced persons and those new to or interested in the real estate field. The U-M Extension Service, the Graduate School of Business Administration and the Michigan Association of Realtors cooperate in offering the state-certified courses, which have been approved for the granting of Continuing Education Units (CEUs) and can lead to the respected U-M Certificate in Real Estate.

For further information on this course and others scheduled this fall, contact the Real Estate Program, University of Michigan Extension Service, 350 S. Thayer, Ann Arbor 48109; or phone 763-2170.

WSACC voices support for 'Super Sewer' plans

The West Suburban Area Council of Chambers (WSACC) has gone on record in support of "Super Sewer" (Proposal A).

Frank Hand, council president, said council members are supporting "Super Sewer" because they feel it will foster and promote greater development in Western Wayne County than would other systems proposed by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

Wayne County's plan, nicknamed the "Super Sewer", calls for a single sewage treatment plant at the mouth of the Huron River on Lake Erie. This system would service 22 communities in Western Wayne and Oakland Counties and has been in the planning stage for 20 years.

THE EPA's plan calls for some communities to be served by the Rouge interceptor and the Detroit treatment plant. Others would be served by an expanded Walled Lake Treatment plant.

The treatment capacity of the Walled Lake Plant is limited because it flows into a northern branch of the Middle Rouge River. Communities downstream from the existing plant are worried that problems at the Walled Lake plant could turn the Middle Rouge into an open sewer.

Although the "Super Sewer" would cost $207 million as compared to $132 million for the EPA plan, supporters of the "Super Sewer" plan believe that it would serve more persons and allow more suburban growth than the EPA's plan.

The "Super Sewer" was proposed by the Wayne County Road Commission and now is endorsed by the new Department of Public Works and the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

Chambers of commerce belonging to WSACC include Belleville, Canton, Farmington, Livonia, Northville, Novi, Plymouth, Redford, Romulus, Westland and Wayne.

Hockey league formed

A general membership meeting will be held at 10 a.m. Sept. 22 at the Westland Multi-Purpose Arena, 6210 N. Wildwood, Westland, for the North-South Morning Hockey League.

Registration for the league will be Sept. 11 and 13 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Lincoln Park Community Center (for the south division), 3525 Dix, Lincoln Park, and Sept. 12 and 14 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Westland arena.

Games between the two divisions will be played on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays at the two arenas. There will be 40 games in all, with double elimination.

The entry fees, which include the cost of ice time, time clock and trophies, will be due at the start of the season, not during the registration period.

For further information on the league call the Westland arena at 729-4560 or the Lincoln Park arena at 386-4075.

Orientation workshop opens 4-H's outdoor volunteer Challenge training

Wayne County adults and older teens will be able to participate in 4-H outdoor training for volunteer leaders in the Challenge program, beginning with an orientation workshop, Sept. 21-23, according to Pat Livingston, Wayne County 4-H Youth Agent.

Dave Hoffman of 6 Area Coalition, Community Mental Health, Marianne Robinson Busher, curator of the Wyandotte Museum, and William Lewis will join participants from around the state for the 3-day workshop on wilderness skills at Kettunen Center, the Michigan 4-H leadership training facility near Tustin.

"The workshop will outline expectations and training requirements for Challenge leaders and will explain how the program fits into the 4-H philosophy of encouraging physical and mental development of youth," Ms. Livingston said. "Many of the enrollees never have been 4-H volunteer leaders before."

The orientation workshop is the first of eight all-weekend training sessions required for Challenge leaders. Those who complete the program will be field-tested for certification in April and May 1980.

The training will be conducted by five regional teams of volunteer instructors. Youngsters and leaders currently involved in the program also will attend the workshop to relate their experiences to prospective leaders. Topics will include climbing, basic mountaineering, canoeing and edible plants.

"In addition to teaching wilderness skills, the Challenge program enables the kids to cope with everyday living," Ms. Livingston said. "The youngsters develop self-confidence by coping with stress. When they realize they can accomplish things they didn't think they could, their confidence in themselves and their abilities grows."

The workshop is made possible by donations from various individuals, organizations and businesses through the Michigan 4-H Foundation.

For more information about the 4-H Challenge program, contact Ms. Livingston, at the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service office or at 721-6576.

WCISD offers four workshops on women

A series of four workshops, entitled "The Challenge of Our Future: Women Can Make the Difference", is scheduled for Sept. 18, 20, 25 and 27 from 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon at the Wayne County Intermediate School District Building in Wayne.

The workshops are open to the public and are sponsored by the Family Living Program of the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Program in Wayne County.

The series will begin with the assessment of generational values using Dr. Morris Massey's nationally recognized film, "What You Are Now IS What You Were When". Participants will have an opportunity to determine their own values and examine how these values influence the decisions they make.

The workshop series then will focus on specific decisions women make in their financial lives, discovering little known facts about joint tenancy, inflation, credit, divorce and laws governing estate, inheritance and social security taxes.

It will conclude with a "We the People — Your Involvement in Government", designed to show women step by step how they can affect change in their community.

The registration fee for the entire series is $5. Reservations are limited and can be made by mailing a check for $5, made payable to the Wayne County Extension Service, to P.O. Box 550, Wayne 48184. Additional information can be obtained by calling 721-6565 or 563-2950.

The Intermediate School District Building is located at 33500 Van Born Road, Wayne.

Know your law

(This is one of a series of public service articles explaining, in general terms, a provision of Michigan Law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law on their private legal affairs should consult with a private attorney.)

By ATT.
GEN. FRANK KELLEY

Appellate proceedings in the Michigan Supreme Court and Court of Appeals are two important aspects of the Michigan legal system. Yet both usually function out of the public spotlight.

The Michigan Supreme Court consists of seven justices elected on a non-partisan ballot. It has general supervisory responsibility for all other state courts and hears appeals from lower courts.

The Court of Appeals consists of 18 elected judges. It operates with 3-judge panels who review decisions by trial courts.

A person dissatisfied with a trial court judgment has a constitutional right to file an appeal in the Court of Appeals within a certain number of days of the trial court judgment.

The appellant must provide the court with a transcript of the trial proceedings, papers and exhibits and a written argument, or brief, which argues that the trial court's judgment was wrong.

After that brief has been filed, the other party has 40 days to file a brief with the court to persuade them that the lower court judgment was actually correct and should be upheld.

An oral argument then will be scheduled before the 3-judge panel. The judges generally ask questions during the oral argument which bring up for discussion the most important aspects of the case.

Afterwards, reflecting on the argument and reviewing the briefs, the court issues an order affirming, reversing or modifying the lower court's judgment. A judge disagreeing with the majority decision may write a dissenting opinion.

A plaintiff dissatisfied with the Court of Appeals decision may ask the Supreme Court to review that decision. If the Supreme Court believes the Court of Appeals judgment may be wrong, or in conflict with other decisions, it may grant an appeal.

If an appeal is granted, each party will again file a brief in support of its position and the court will hear oral arguments. A written opinion generally is issued following the oral arguments and any of the seven justices may file a separate opinion.

Opinions published by the two courts provide guidance to trial courts as to cases they will hear in the future.

SANYO

The Television System of Tomorrow!

Now Sanyo puts it all together. All the newest and most advanced TV technology available: microcomputer control circuitry, "channel lock" frequency synthesizer tuning with crystal-controlled phase locked loop circuitry for incredible accuracy, pushbutton digital channel selection plus channel scanning, infra-red wireless remote control and VIR — the greatest advance in color control since color TV!

Sanyo televisions have a Brain — a tiny microprocessor built into the set that coordinates and controls all its many functions. The microcomputer receives and interprets your remote commands, gives tuning instructions to the frequency synthesizer circuits, and oversees operation of the digital clock and channel display — all with high-reliability integrated circuits and with mechanical parts to cause trouble! The digital clock gives you a continuous time display in bright red digits — right on the front of the set, along with a reading of the channel the set is tuned to when a change is made.

(All features not necessarily available on all Sanyo models).

Moon festival planned

The Ancient Moon Festival of China commemorating an abundant harvest, femininity and romance will be celebrated right here in Detroit's Chinatown at Cass and Peterboro.

The 2-day gala street fair Saturday and Sunday is co-sponsored by the International Institute of Metropolitan Detroit, the Chinese American Educational and Cultural Center of Michigan and the Association of Chinese Americans.

Events will kick off Saturday with a ribbon cutting ceremony, followed by performances of the Chinese Lion Dance, Ribbon Dance, Umbrella Dance and Mountain Dance among others. A fashion show of costumes from nine ancient Chinese dynasties is planned along with a children's lantern making workshop, followed by the traditional children's lantern parade.

The Chinese moon cake, symbolic food of the Chinese Moon Festival, will be featured in a moon cake eating contest. There also will be a children's moon walk game, a traditional game of the holiday.

Chinese cooking demonstrations are scheduled throughout the festivities and varieties of Chinese food will be for sale including Char Seow, which is roast pork, as well as roast duck.

Also planned are Chinese calligraphy and painting demonstrations, Chinese paper cutting demonstrations and a Chinese gift booth.

Hours for the festival are Saturday from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Sunday from noon to 7 p.m.

The Moon Festival falls on the 15th day of the eighth month of the lunar calendar. The moon is believed to be at its brightest then, and the Earth God is thanked for the harvest.

The moon is a symbol of femininity. Beautiful Chang-O of the Hsia dynasty (2205-1818 B.C.) is purported to live on the moon. She stole a drug insuring youth and immortality from her husband. As she swallowed the drug, Chang-O found herself soaring up to the moon. Her youth and beauty are preserved, but as punishment for the theft, she is doomed to remain on the moon forever.

Food of the day is the moon cake, decorated and filled so as to be round and yellow as the moon itself. There is a legend about the moon cake, too. In the Yuan dynasty when the Mongols ruled China, patriots plotted to overthrow them. Their secret messages to each other were concealed in festival cakes exchanged as gifts. So moon cakes became a tradition and are cooked, bought, given and eaten by millions.

Most events are free and the festival is supported by the Detroit Council for the Arts and Michigan Council for the Arts.

Call the International Institute at 871-8600 for more detailed schedule information.

Tole Masters of Michigan host regional convention

Woody Herman and his orchestra, the St. Paul Chamber Orchestra, classical guitarist Manuel Barrueco and the Cincinnati Ballet Company will be featured in upcoming performances at Eastern Michigan University as part of the university's 1979-80 Guest Artist Series, sponsored by the Office of Campus Life.

All of the EMU concerts will be held in Pease Auditorium at 8:30 p.m.

The Cincinnati Ballet Company will begin the concert series Sept. 29. On Nov. 15, Woody Herman and his orchestra will perform in concert, and classical guitarist Manuel Barrueco will be featured in a Jan. 17 concert. The St. Paul Chamber Orchestra will conclude the 1979-80 Guest Artist Series with a performance scheduled for March 10.

Individual ticket prices for all of the concerts, except Manuel Barrueco, range from $4 to $7.50. Students and senior citizens will be admitted for $4 and $5.50; tickets for the general public are $5 and $7.50. Students and senior citizens will be admitted for the Manuel Barrueco concert for $2 and $3.50; general admission tickets for the event are $3 and $5.

A special 20 percent discount will be offered as part of a 1979-80 Guest Artist Series package. Special package rates of $22 and $14 are available to the general public. The series package price for students and senior citizens is $16 and $11. A 10 percent discount is available to groups of 20 or more concert goers.

As an added feature of the 1979-80 series, the EMU Office of Campus Life has arranged a reservation-only buffet supper which will be offered at 6:30 p.m. on the evening of each performance. The buffet will be held in McKenny Union and features Carved Roast Bzron of Beef and Seafood Newburg with accompanying beverages, appetizers, side dishes and desserts. The dinner is $8.95 for adults; $5 for children. Tickets for the pre-performance buffet may be purchased with concert tickets.

Tickets for the 1979-80 EMU Guest Concert Series are available in the Campus Life Ticket Booth, 117 Goodison Hall, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. Tickets also may be purchased by mail by writing the Office of Campus Life at EMU.

Woody Herman to open EMU's guest artist series

People with similar interests always seem to find each other.

On Feb. 2, 1974, eight devotees of the Decorative Arts from Michigan held their first organizational meeting. Their purpose was to promote quality tole and decorative painting in this area.

Tole Masters of Michigan was the name chosen by this enthusiastic group whose membership has grown to more than 250 artists. The society is comprised of teachers, students, shop and studio owners.

On May 1, 1976, Tole Masters of Michigan was accepted by the National Society of Tole and Decorative Painters as one of its 81 national chapters.

This year, Tole Masters of Michigan is hosting Michigan's first regional convention. The Great Lakes Decorative Art Convention will take place Sept. 28, 29, 30 at the Sheraton Southfield Hotel. Members and the public are invited to attend Michigan's largest art trade show featuring art supplies, frames, books, wood and tinware to decorate a variety of new ideas and products to inspire the artist. Admission to the trade show is $1.50.

Also open to all will be an exhibit of a variety of styles and types of art, showcasing everything from Early American on tin, Norwegian Rosemaling on furniture to beautiful oil canvases and watercolors. Free demonstrations will be going on continually.

For the members, 35 teachers from Michigan, Canada and across the states will be teaching workshops and audits. Most of the finest teachers from the national organization and local chapters have accepted an invitation to teach. There will be something for every taste.

For more information about the convention or for membership applications, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to Great Lakes Decorative Art Convention, P.O. Box 36034, Grosse Pointe 48236.

Boat show to be held on Sunday

All of the available deep water wells, seawall space and interior exhibition locations have been sold for the Port Huron International Boat Show, scheduled to run at the Port Huron River Street Dock and in McMoran Arena from Sept. 13 through Sept. 16.

The sell-out conditions guarantee that a broad selection of boats and related marine equipment will be available for inspection by showgoers. More than 250 boats will be on display along with numerous exhibits of boating hardware, fishing gear and sports clothing.

All boats on exhibit will be brand new. No used or previously owned equipment will be allowed in the display.

The hours of the Port Huron International Boat Show are Thursday and Friday from noon to 10 p.m., Saturday from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Admission is free to all outdoor marine seawall exhibits. Vessel boarding passes plus admission to the McMoran arena displays are adults $3, children 5-12 years, $1.50, and senior citizens and children under 5 free.

Editorial opinions

Suburbia

Suburbia County?

Political gimmickry, or a viable solution to Western Wayne County's problems?

That is the question residents are being asked to answer at public hearings now taking place.

But the real question being asked by the author of that legislation, State Rep. Thomas Brown (D-36), is: Should Western Wayne County residents be forced to underwrite the largest portion of the cost of running the county and receive a disproportionately small share of the benefits?

Last year, when Brown first introduced his bill that would split Wayne county, his colleagues in Lansing generally felt that Brown was trying more to make a point than a new law.

But according to Brown, this year's bill has been received differently.

In the face of Wayne County's growing financial problems, and the county's inability to deal with that issue, public attention has been drawn to the county's plight. And generally, the public appears to be moving to the conclusion that county government has outgrown its politicians' ability to manage it.

Add to that the difficulty Western Wayne County has had in convincing the county that area residents need a larger voice, and many come to the conclusion that a split of Wayne County may not be a bad idea after all.

While we fully recognize the fact that Western Wayne County has been ignored by County Commissioners, we do see light at the end of the tunnel.

For the first time in history, the inept management of Wayne County has become a political issue. An issue which has prompted the governor to refuse further state aid to the county until county politicians adopt real reform.

For that reason, we prefer to take a wait-and-see attitude on the issue of splitting Wayne County into two parts.

Should county officials fail to implement reform, bankruptcy is around the corner, and the state will then move in to take over management of the county.

Commissioners are between a 'rock and a hard place' on this issue and should shortly be forced to finally take some action.

Romulus politics

This week's primary election in Romulus deserves to be noted if only for its lack of excitement.

But a lack of excitement in Romulus politics is big news.

Two years ago, in the three-way primary race for mayor, politics in Romulus was at its usual worst.

Rumors, allegations, dirty tricks and all the old methods for attracting the voters' attention were freely practiced.

The town was labeled the "Cuckoo's Nest" by the Detroit media, and the title was well deserved.

But by contrast, this recent campaign for mayor in the primary, was a ho-hum affair by Romulus standards. And we want to say: Good show.

Maybe, for the first time in recent history, the fine people of Romulus will be spared the agony of watching their elected officials act like children while seeking voter support.

We have said in the past that most citizens of Romulus deserved far better elected officials than those who always managed to gain the 'machine' support which meant sure victory.

We congratulate all those candidates who managed to seek office without dragging the name of their community through the mud.

Perhaps, at last, a measure of political stability has arrived in the town long noted for its political immaturity.

We should hope that it lasts through November.

Only then can we claim that Romulus has arrived.

To our readers:

This page in the Associated Newspapers is being made available to the residents of the communities we serve.

Anyone of any age is invited to submit an open letter to their community or to the editor of Associated Newspapers.

We will publish letters on any subject. If you feel you have a plan for solving a city problem, or wish to comment on someone else's plan, this space is being reserved for you.

If you or your group would like to address the community at large, or just an individual, this space is reserved for you.

If you think you can do it better, cheaper, faster, or with more flair, this is the place to tell everyone about it.

You are invited to send your opinions on events, or items of public interest, to the editor of Associated Newspapers, 35540 Michigan Avenue, Wayne 48184.

Names will be withheld from letters published only for very good reason. The reason must be included in the letter.

The editor reserves the right to edit and/or condense letters where necessary.

Associated Newspapers has just given you a public voice. If a story is worth telling to your neighbor, why not tell it to your whole community.

County court reorganization

By ROBERT LAW
State Representative
36th District

The long-awaited court reorganization of Wayne County looks like it is finally going to materialize during the current budget year.

The Appropriations Committee of the Michigan Legislature, through the General Government Budget, set up the basic funding mechanism for court reorganization in Wayne County and for the beginning of state assumption of the courts throughout the state of Michigan.

But Governor Milliken recently vetoed $5.5 million that would have paid for a state take-over of Wayne County's probation and parole system and provided aid to Wayne County Circuit Court because the county has failed to reform its own government so far.

By combining the Recorder's Court, Circuit Court and Common Pleas Court, Wayne County would save substantial amounts of money and increase its efficiency each year. If the county courts are reorganized to set up a new system of one level of Circuit Courts and District Courts, Wayne will automatically receive the money the Legislature has earmarked. If it doesn't, operating funds will not be forthcoming and the county will face a serious deficit.

The Governor's veto met with gloomy predictions of a three day work week and a 40 percent pay cut for 3500 county employees.

The Governor's vetoes (including $500,000 for the Circuit Court) came at a particularly difficult time for the county. Wayne, which has 30 percent of the state's population, has a projected budget shortfall of $18.2 million. But the Governor said that because the state is "in a recession" and the state budget is "tight" it would be counterproductive to pour more tax dollars into a deteriorating situation.

In the general government appropriation as passed by the Legislature, the change in the funding formula for all judges was approved.

Basically the change is that the maximum salary of all judges, as of January 1, 1980, is based on a percentage of the salary paid to the Michigan Supreme Court Justices. The final percentages as agreed to are: a Court of Appeals judge would receive 94 percent of the salary paid to a Supreme Court Justice; a Circuit Court judge would receive 92 percent; a probate Court judge would receive 88 percent; a District Court Judge would receive 84 percent of the Supreme Court Justice salary rate.

As of January 1, the Supreme Court Justices' salary will be set at $60,500 and the maximum salary which could be paid to a Circuit Court judge anywhere in the state of Michigan will be equal to 92 percent of that salary base or $55,660. Of this amount, the state pays the basic supplement of $33,275 and this figure includes the 7.8 percent raise given by the state of Michigan to these judges throughout Michigan.

The local counties would then have the flexibility of giving a local supplement of anywhere from zero to up to $22,385 to Circuit Court judges in their area. Wayne County presently pays approximately $17,900 as its local match for a total of about $47,000 plus cost of living increases of $3-4 thousand per year. Under the new system, there would be no cost of living increases built in for any judges in Michigan.

The unique feature of the Wayne County program is that the state will assume, as of January 1, 1980, full funding for all Circuit Court judges in Wayne County. This will provide approximately, on an annual basis, $11 million of aid to Wayne County, to pay for the personnel costs of judges running the Wayne County court system. It is the first step in the court reorganization and state-wide uniformity plan that has been recommended for the past few years.

The program also provides financial relief to an extremely destitute County of Wayne.

The new funding mechanism and the appropriation of the $11 million dollars to the County of Wayne is directly tied to enabling legislation for the court reorganization plan. The present concept envisions combining the present Wayne County Circuit Court judges with the Recorder's Court and Common Pleas judges in Detroit, Recorder and Circuit Court judges would form a new court bench to be funded by the state of Michigan and the Common Pleas Court would be divided into district courts in compliance with the judicial arrangements throughout the rest of the State. This would not only provide better continuity of judicial agreements in the County but also provide significant financial assistance to Wayne County.

The court reorganization plan would also apply to Probate judges and District Court judges in a similar fashion. As to District Court judges throughout the County of Wayne and for Circuit Court judges and District Court judges in the rest of the state, the state will begin to assume approximately 40 percent of the local share of funding for District Court and Circuit Court judges.

District Court judges received a 7.8 percent pay increase under the new formula up to $29,950.00. This portion is paid by the state of Michigan as the state's share of funding of the court system. The increase allows a total pay-out of up to 84 percent of the Supreme Court's salary. Local units of government would then be allowed to pay an additional $20,870 for a total of $50,820 for District Court.

The state of Michigan, throughout the District Courts and Circuit Courts, will appropriate monies for 40 percent of the amount that a local jurisdiction deems reasonable to grant the judge; or up to $8,350 of state assumption in the cost of funding judges.

Again this will provide significant financial relief to local units of government and taxpayers in the funding of their judicial system. This same formula works for Circuit Court judges throughout the state other than the Wayne County Circuit Court bench. Therefore, the assumption of a state court system, for the first time, was put into place in the appropriation package of the general government bill.

All of the funding proposals other than the base state increase of 7.8 percent for all judges, is tied to a acceptable court reorganization plan being developed by the Legislature.

Editor's log

Thanks from Sonny

By DENNIS FASSETT
Managing Editor

In last week's column, I wrote about the Sonny Eliot Easter Seal Golf Tournament, and explored the reasons so many celebrities are willing to devote time to such an event.

In winding-up that piece, I came to the conclusion that we may never know exactly why celebrities invest their time in fund raising projects, but reasons are less important than the fact that they do become involved.

As a follow up to that column, it is appropriate that we identify those who supported the tournament and Easter Seals.

Among the celebrities who participated were: Congressman William D. Ford; Bob and Maggie Allison; William Giles of the Detroit News; tax reformer Robert Tisch; State Rep. Thomas Brown; State Rep. Gary Owen; State Rep. Robert Law; Pete Waldmeir; Red Wing coach Bobby Krohm; Marc Avery and, of course, Sonny Eliot.

The people who donated the money for the tournament included, Shirley Henry, publisher of the Dearborn Press and Guide; Mayor Tom Taylor of Westland; Mayor William Oakley of Romulus; Dr. Gerald Ebmeyer; Robert Kenyon of Wayne Motor Supply; Art Nelson of Nelson Plumbing; Dick Strausbaugh of Westland Floor Coverings; 18th District Court Judge Evan Callanan; Westland City Assessor, Glenn Shaw; Haze Wilson of Michigan Bell Telephone; David J. Willett, publisher of the Associated Newspapers; Harold Rosin of Dearborn Real Estate; Mel Morgan of Romulus; George Demetriou of the Golden Boy Restaurant; Nick Spain from WDIV; Mike Berry of WDIV; Bobby Stevens of WDIV; The New Boston Rotary Club; The Romulus Rotary Club; The Wayne Rotary Club; The Westland Rotary Club; Mr. Claud Howard of Howard and Howard Real Estate and Jim Mills, ad director for the Dearborn Press and Guide.

In addition, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Pitlar of Easter Seals were on hand with Ms. Sylvia Wolf, producer of the annual Easter Seal Telethon.

With Marshall Pitlar was Little Miss Easter Seals, Monica Evans, and her foster parents.

A special thanks goes to Mr. Neil Shine of the Detroit Free Press for agreeing to emcee the program. His dry, sardonic wit brought the house down.

Many readers of this column may now be well on the way toward a temper tantrum because the usual well waxed eloquence in their favorite corner of this paper is missing. But bear with me please.

While everyone on the above list is important, none are as important as the goal we set for ourselves. To raise funds for Easter Seals.

And if anyone believes for one moment that the work being done by that organization is of little consequence, they have only to watch and listen while Monica Evans performs.

EDITOR:

This is in answer to Kimberly Price Warner's request for a community chorus.

There is a chorus sponsored by the Van Buren Township Parks and Recreation Department which meets Monday nights at the township hall, 7-8:30 p.m.

Anyone 14-years-old or over is welcome to join free of charge.

Our purpose is to provide an enjoyable musical experience, make friends, and provide local entertainment.

We've been in existence for two years and are very excited with the response from the community.

This season begins September 10th with our repertoire including: Handel's "For Unto Us a Child is Born" and "Glory to God"; Norman Luboff's "Psalm 150"; Cole Porter's "You Do Something to Me"; Jean Berger's "A Pennyworth of Mirth" and pieces to include percussion, a brass ensemble and electric guitars.

Believe me, Kim, we all know the desire to once again belong to a chorus and perform. We'd love to have you!

McDonald's thanked

Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank McDonald's Systems Inc., especially Ms. Joanne Simonds and Mr. Napoleon Steward of that organization, for an outstanding service recently rendered to the people of Van Buren Township.

The Township's newest McDonald's, at I-94 and Belleville Road, is not the usual plastic decor fast food restaurant. Instead, Ms. Simonds and Mr. Steward took the time to research the Township's current community interests, as reflected in the stained glass windows and light fixtures done in a Strawberry Festival theme. Additionally they took an interest in the Township's history, and as a result the walls are decorated with historical sketches and photos, many of which are taken from Water Under The Bridge - A History of Van Buren Township.

My daughters and I stopped at the new McDonald's the other evening for dinner.

Instead of the usual "hurry up and eat" conversations one regularly hears at McDonald's, we saw families taking time to look at the pictures and talk about the 'good old days.' I observed one young man, approximately 16 years-of-age, actually go to the telephone and call his grandmother to ask her if she remembered an unpaved main street lined with cows instead of cars, as shown in a photo on the wall.

When a restaurant takes the time to bring families together, as McDonald's has done, I feel they have done the Community a service.

Ask Carol Premo

By CAROL PREMO, C.S.W.

Carol Premo, a Certified Social Worker in private practice in Belleville, Mich., will be presenting weekly answers to problems which may have been the source of either joy or pain for some of our readers.

You are invited to ask Carol about a problem or discuss a solution by mailing your letter to: Carol Premo, Associated Newspapers, 47818 W. Huron River Drive, Belleville, Mich. 48111.

Dear Carol,

Today I got upset over the stupidest thing. Where I work there is a suite of five private offices. A week ago our boss decided we were all going to switch offices, "for a change of scenery." I've had the same office for five years. I wasn't thrilled with the idea, but I figured it was all right. But today, when we began moving all the files, desks, and papers, I felt incredibly edgy and kept running into things and snapping at people. To make matters worse, my boss decided he liked the size of my desk better than his. Even though I ended up with a bigger desk, I felt furious. I really felt impinged upon. It seems like such a trivial thing — yet I avoided him for the rest of the day. Do I have a right to feel taken advantage of?

Frustrated

Dear Frustrated,

Using something is not always the same thing as owning it. If a company owns the office furniture, it has a right to control its use. However, since quick changes in our environment can often evoke a sense of insecurity and anxiety, it is understandable that you felt disoriented and edgy during the moving project, — especially when the largest and most familiar part of your environment was removed from it permanently. Since we all feel a need for a sense of continuity, it helps if supervisors try to be sensitive to that need by notifying employees in advance and perhaps by asking them for their suggestions about the changes.

Perhaps the move will give you some time to set things up for yourself even more conveniently. After a while it will feel as familiar as your old space once did. People need continuity — but they can also enjoy adaptability.

Dear Carol,

In one of your previous columns you advised the parent of a teenager who was getting low grades "to permit him to handle his own schoolwork ... Only when the teen sees his work as his own responsibility can he really succeed."

I absolutely disagree! What's wrong with kids today is that they have too much independence. If they are not disciplined, they will poke their noses into all kinds of trouble. We carefully control all our children's activities. We set their bed-times, and we make sure our teenager spends at least two hours per night on homework. He brings home a few bad grades anyway, each term. I can't imagine what a mess he'd be in if we didn't discipline him as we do.

Disagreeing Parent

Dear Disagreeing Parent,

Maybe he would choose to work enthusiastically and competently one evening for four hours when he needed to, and then to play basketball or other enjoyable activities on nights when he didn't have homework. As I said before, if a child can't make decisions on his own, he may choose schoolwork as an area of control. If you are also choosing schoolwork as an area of control, you will probably both lose. In order to succeed a person needs to be encouraged to be self-disciplined, and praised when he does work hard to develop and fulfill his own goals and values.

No school kid blues

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

When the school bells rang last week I felt a sinking in my stomach, and a great loneliness enveloped me. For the first time in twenty-nine years I had no little one to drag in from the sandbox, hose down and jam little fat feet into tight shoes, and send off to public school.

You can't count college, because usually kids have learned how to clean themselves up by college, and if they haven't, no one is there to smell them out, except their fellow students, and most of them are still in that embryonic stage that doesn't know what smells mean, anyway.

One day just before the first day of school, I got so lonely I went outside and dragged a couple of little guys around to the side of the house and hosed them down.

"Hey," they sputtered. "What are you doing?"

"I'm cleaning you up for school," I told them, but do you think those kids would stand still and let me pretend? They went screaming home where they got spanked for being all wet.

One of my daughters got to feeling so sorry for me she brought over her two kids and said, "Here, Mother, clean these kids up and send them to school. I don't want you to suffer."

Those kids had no intention of getting cleaned up. They kicked and yelled like any normal kid does when getting his ears cleaned, and then I left them in the bathroom to scrub their teeth.

"Grandma, Mike is using my toothbrush," Darcy shrieked.

"Tell the rabbit I am not," Michael shrilled back.

I stood out in the hall and hugged myself. The house was back to normal. There was LIFE stirring in the bathroom, but after a bit, I got worried that a bit of dying might be going on in there as well, so I kicked open the door, and swatted a couple of kids. Joy surged over me. Life was meaningful!

Then I spent fifteen minutes telling my ten-year-old granddaughter how she should remember she was a lady. Ladies don't "bop" little brothers, nor anyone else, for that matter.

Her golden-blonde head nodded. Her pink cheeks flushed pinker, and her brand new school dress flounced around her as she picked up her books and set off for her first day of school.

My next door neighbor was sitting out on her porch bawling, because she didn't have any school kids either this year, and her grown up kids hadn't done their moral duty to grandmother and produced any grandchildren.

"I envy you," she sobbed. "That little girl is so feminine. Such a little lady."

I beamed and loaned her a hankie and then I went in and cleaned up the bath towels, dirty socks, toy cars, a hopping toad, and pocket full of bugs. Life was good.

Late afternoon found my little ones trudging home, swinging their lunch boxes. Darcy was mad. The way she walked. The way she swung her hair, but mostly the way she kept bopping her little brother over the head with her lunch box, told me that my granddaughter wasn't happy.

"What's the matter with my little lady?" I asked, and she shook my hand from her shoulder.

"I'm not a little lady," she sobbed, the tears streaming down her cheeks. "I'll never be a little lady." Her chest heaved with her sobbing.

"Kevin came up and said, 'Hi, Buckteeth,' and I-I-I-I said 'You aren't going to have ANY teeth,' and I bopped him with my fist."

"You shoulda seen the blood," Mike shouted.

"And the principal wants to see you...."

If all six of my kids have two kids each, I figure I will never be lonely on the first day of school, that is, if I survive my session with the principal.

Guess who isn't setting back thermostats?

By EDWIN FEULNER

We now have a mandate ordering most places of business to set their thermostats at 78 degrees. It's bearable and not unreasonable. Unfortunately, like the President's "voluntary" wage-and-price guidelines, the heavy hand of the government is going to be used to see that we all comply.

The plan is to hire 100 to 200 Department of Energy enforcers to see that there are no secret softies among us, and violators will be fined as much as $10,000 a day. In addition, the President and his aides suggested it is our patriotic duty to report all violators to the appropriate federal officials.

All right. So we all want to do our part. But I had been under the impression that national efforts like this were an all-pull-together kind of thing.

But snoops and informers?

After listening to the President's speech several weeks ago and nodding in agreement that we do have a "crisis of confidence," I went to bed and had a dream. I dreamed I got up Monday morning, adjusted the thermostat, cast a wistful look at my car and resolutely set out for the bus stop.

Many of my friends and colleagues did the same. When I arrived at my office, on the ground level of a converted two-story townhouse in the Northeast section of Washington, it warmed my heart — not to mention the rest of me — to find the thermostat in our building had already been set, by our receptionist, at the now legal limit of 78 degrees.

In the new dawn of renewed patriotism and determination to swelter it out in the spirit of our pioneer ancestors, those of us on the ground floor forgot all about the laws of physics.

Hot air rises. Of course. Even the President can't argue with that, and while I and my fellow ground floor workers were reasonably comfortable in our shirt sleeves at the magic 78, directly above us, in a 95 degree rain forest on the second floor, a mutinous, darkly unpatriotic group, including the entire staff of Policy Review and the editor of the Heritage Foundation Forum, plotted an illegal act.

As the day wore on, the grumbling ceased and I felt noticeably cooler. I remained innocently unsuspecting, however, even when confronted with the self-satisfied smiles of the people from upstairs, until a loudpounding on the front door brought the only chills of the day to our entire staff. Before anyone realized what was happening, the reception hall, was filled with perspiring Department of Energy "cool guys."

Their spokesman strode up and slapped a sticky paper into my hand. "Violation," it read, "Ten thousand dollar fine." Standing behind them, peering anxiously over their shoulders, was our informer — a stranger who had stopped in earlier to ask directions (and incidentally to cool off).

I woke up at this point, relieved to find it was only a dream. Then I read the morning paper.

I was paranoid the rest of the day, and no longer so enthusiastic.

As for Big Brother, I hope he swelters along with the rest of us.

Things that matter

By GEORGE PLAGENZ
United Feature Syndicate

It is easy to say, and probably correct, that the cults don't pose the national danger which some stories we read would lead us to believe — the Guyana affair notwithstanding. One can even suspect that the harrowing accounts of kidnapping into and away from the cults are sometimes exaggerated in order to sell books or win sympathy for those who otherwise would only look foolish for getting taken in by the cults.

It is possible, too, to doubt figures which say that anywhere from three to 10 million U.S. youths are caught up in the cults. The overpublicized Moonies have only 3,000 to 7,000 active members in this country. A more reliable estimate is that far fewer than 1 percent of the 50 million young people in the United States actually are involved in the cults.

Comforting as all these reflections may be, they aren't much comfort to a mother whose son or daughter is in a cult and who lies awake nights worrying about her child.

What do you say to such an agonized mother?

I get many calls from these parents. Their distress has been multiplied by all the scare stories they have read about the cults.

They have been given all sorts of advice: Get a lawyer! Get your child out at all costs! Hire a deprogrammer! Write your congressman and have the cults outlawed!

That sort of frantic counsel can be about as quieting to a parent's fears as being told blithely not to believe "everything you hear" about the cults.

So what DO you say?

When I talk to these mothers, I certainly don't take the side of the cults. But I tell them what David Poling says in his latest book on conversion: "Some of these sects are entirely harmless."

I tell them what Lowell Streiker, executive director of the Mental Health Association of San Mateo County, Calif., says in his book, "The Cults Are Coming."

"When left to themselves," says Streiker, "about three-quarters of all cult converts will become disenchanted within a very short time."

I am also indebted to some things I have been told by Dr. Charles Kissling, a psychologist.

Kissling has not dealt much with parents of cultists, but he has helped many a parent troubled with a child who has sought some other unacceptable route of escape from his problems.

It is possible, says Kissling, that a cult can be a "halfway house" in a youth's efforts to find himself.

"Some youth learn by education and from what their parents have tried to teach them," he says. "But others can learn only the hard way — by falling down and picking themselves up and dusting themselves off."

A youth can come out of such an experience, he says, by confessing, "That opened my eyes. I don't know how I got into it, but I finally got myself together."

What he did was a mistake, but maybe nothing else would have made him come to his senses, Kissling says.

"Who knows?" says the psychologist. "If he hadn't taken that way, he might have jumped off the bridge."

These, I think, are all reassuring and realistic things to say to a parent of a cultist. Too much of what is written could lead a parent to believe that joining a cult will be fatal to a youth.

A heart attack can be fatal — but it usually isn't. This doesn't mean that heart attacks are not bad, even dangerous.

We ought to do all we can to avoid them and, more than that, to seek ways to eliminate them altogether.

The same probably should be said about the cults. In the meantime, however, let's deal with the cults on our own terms — not theirs. It won't help to let ourselves be brainwashed.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 12
READ MATTHEW 5:13-16

"Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven." (Matthew 5:16)

I have never thought of myself as a leader. I've never possessed the gifts of organization or administration. How often have I had the right heart and the best intentions about a worthwhile project, yet lacked the knack of organizing the necessary elements to see that project bear fruit.

Then one day I had a revelation! I realized that through Christ we are all able to be used as beacon lights for those around us. Although I may never have the skills needed to be a leader, Jesus Christ can use me as a "guider" to help others get safely home to their Father in heaven!

Few are called upon to be leaders, but all are called by God to be guiders. If we will yield our simple, open vessels to God, His Holy Spirit will fill us so full of His love that the overflow will become a beacon light to guide others to Him.

PRAYER: Our beloved Father, help us, Your children, to shine forth for You that all might come to know You as their Father and God. In Jesus' name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: You don't have to be a leader to be an effective witness for Jesus Christ.

Edsel Ford shatters Glenn's grid image, 26-0

Westlanders held to 2 first downs by strong Dearborn defense

BY JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Chalk up John Glenn's 26-0 defeat at the hands of Dearborn Edsel Ford Friday night to experience.

The "experience" of Jon Davis' senior-laden powerhouse and the lack of playing time of the Rockets' basically untested troops this year.

Graduation stripped Coach Chuck Gordon of every one of his starters on offense and defense and his inexperienced squad made some second half mistakes that helped their Dearborn visitors to score three touchdowns in less than eight minutes in the third quarter to ice the game.

And Gordon admitted after the game that he didn't see very much that pleased him or gave him high hopes for the future.

"Edsel Ford's a fine football team and they should go on to have a great season," said Gordon, who is starting his fourth year at the helm of the Rockets.

"It's true that we lost a lot of players — outstanding players — but that's in the past. These kids will have to put the pieces together and show what they're made of."

It could turn out to be an extremely "long year" for Glenn, which only managed two first downs against Edsel Ford, on their first and last series of the first half, and never passed Ford's 46-yard-line

Enterprise-Roman

during the game.

Now the Rockets must gear up for a battle this Friday night at Northville, a convincing 21-6 winner

Saturday over Redford Thurston. It will be another non-conference struggle and the Rockets will enter the game decided underdogs. In tact, looking at Glenn's rugged schedule, it seems fair to say that the Rockets will be fortunate to win half their games this season against the likes of Livonia Franklin, Redford Union, Garden City East, Thurston, North Farmington, Livonia Stevenson and vastly improved Wayne Memorial, which has some high-powered running backs. "Northville is a sound, well-coached team and they don't make many mistakes," Gordon said after scouting Northville's win Saturday afternoon.

However, Glenn and Edsel Ford both made plenty of mistakes as the Thunderbirds took a scant 6-0 first half lead Friday night. Ford marched from the opening kickoff on its own 40 to Glenn's 20-yard-line before it fumbled and Rocket Frank Iannello recovered.

The Sports Meridian

About winners & losers

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Before Westlanders release their hordes of piranhas upon Coach Chuck Gordon's body, let their impaired vision pause for a moment to read this biased column.

Biased because Gordon's incomparable record gives credence to the argument that he is probably one of the finest young football coaches this area has produced, and in the up-and-down, roller-coaster like world of coaching, one can always expect the unexpected.

Unfortunately, it did happen to Gordon's Rockets Friday night before a crowd of some 5,000 fans who saw a visiting Dearborn Edsel Ford disassemble the Glenn grid machine, 26-0, and the rumblings by the sunshine Westland fans began to be heard immediately throughout the stadium.

Making a habit of winning can become a bad habit, as we all know. Ask Sparky Anderson. For years he made the Cincinnati Reds THE TEAM TO BEAT in the National League and when he finished a "lowly second" a year ago he was relieved of his job.

Ungracious skeptics have been predicting Glenn's fall for years. But a succession of outstanding coaches have managed to keep the proverbial wolf from the door, though the debacle Friday night could support the argument that "the time has come."

But I'm not too sure of that. One doesn't win eight out of nine games and seven out of nine in back-to-back seasons as Gordon has without a couple of tricks-in-a-hat. And, it will be very interesting, indeed, to watch Gordon and his staff go to work to salvage a season which remains challenging with a host of exciting possibilities.

It is ironic that the coaches who are perennial winners and suddenly lose a couple or those coaches who are chronic losers come under quick and critical scrutiny and attack by sportswriters and by fans. Those sandwiched in between are spared the groans and moans of the critics who, like parasites, thrive on the most healthy or the sickly to survive.

And, what if the prophets of doom in this case are right and Glenn should be gorged by their grid rivals? Doesn't a coach have a right to have an off season before a change of venue is asked of him?

It will be interesting, I repeat, to follow Glenn's fortunes this year.

Not only for their won-lost record.

Is 'recruiting' a four-letter word?

And then there is Arnice James, the Inkster High head football coach. He doesn't like losing and probably will win the scorn of every Catholic League coach, and paradoxically the adulation of every public school coach who reads the following comment. The comment was provoked after Inkster bowed to St. Martin DePorres, 32-14, in last Friday's season football opener.

"I don't like losing any more than the other fella does," said James, "but this nonsense of Catholic schools raiding public schools for talent has to stop somewhere and sometime."

"We work our behinds off and then run up against teams that have recruited ballplayers from other schools," James continued. "It's not fair — not to us as coaches or to our teams."

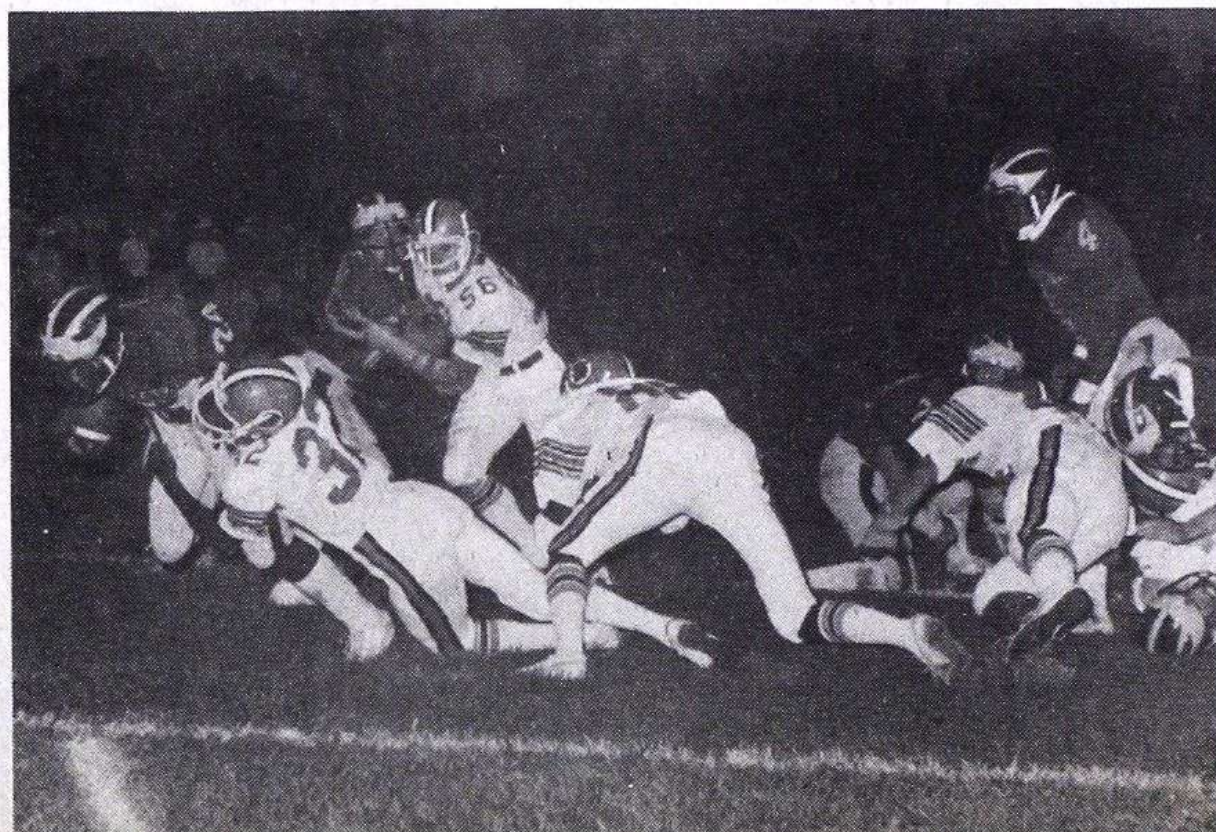

James was referring to DePorres' Myron Harvey, a transfer student from Ypsilanti. In his first appearance in a DePorres grid uniform, Harvey scored two touchdowns against Inkster and singlehandedly accounted for 132 yards in 13 carries, according to one report.

DePorres also happens to be the Class D's defending state football champ, an image they apparently would do everything to keep.

And, though most coaches cringe at "recruiting" as if it is a dirty word, the practice also is carried on in some public high schools.

What's the answer?

Heck if I know.

The Wayne & Rogers show

With Belleville's James Donaldson (32) hanging on, Wayne Memorial's junior runningback Ricky Rogers (dark jersey) lunges into the Tiger end zone for his first of three touchdowns against the Tigers. Wayne and Rogers wrecked Mike Colletta's debut as the Tigers' head coach.

18-0, as the traditional area rivals clashed in their non-conference opener. Wayne opens its league season Friday night at Riverview, while Belleville gets another non-conference tune-up at Redford Union.

After 20-zip setback

Coach Schuele, Canton return to drawing board

Plymouth Canton Coach Dave Schuele said he'll be shuffling the deck of cards to come up with some different combinations next week after his Chiefs turned in a lackluster opening game football performance last Friday against Livonia Bentley.

Before a home crowd, Canton was drubbed 20-0, and Schuele was perturbed over his team's impotent over-all effort.

"They just ripped us apart," Schuele said referring, of course, to Bentley. "I felt the possibilities for our team this year were much greater than last, but viewing the films of the game it's obvious that we have a lot of inexperienced players."

Scoreless the first quarter, Bentley scored the first touchdown of the 1979 campaign thanks to Greg Pierson's 19 yard sprint which capped a short drive. The Bulldogs scored again in that period on Bob Schmidt's first of two touchdowns. Schmidt plowed in from the one-yard line to end another drive, then he gave the visitors an insurance TD midway in the third quarter. He scored from four-yards out.

Canton had its hands full attempting to defense the elusive Schuele.

Zebras win, ruin Tiger coach's debut

Mike Colletta's dreams of a rag-to-riches start as Belleville High's head football coach was torn to shreds by a loaded Wayne Memorial which ruined the rookie coach's debut in the area 18-0 before a partisan Belleville crowd Friday night.

Itching to unleash his pristine backfield, Wayne's Floyd Carter reaffirmed his assessment that the Zebras could be the powers to be in the area.

"We made first game mistakes," Carter said, "and there were the over-all penalties which held us back, but I was very pleased with the defense and the running game of Ricky Rogers and Don Shumpert."

Colletta pointed out that, "Wayne is a strong football team, but, I think at times we played well. I am not disappointed and I feel we have to get a little more consistency in our game."

Wayne will open the Great Lakes 8 Conference phase of the season Friday night at Riverview, a team that has never lost to the Zebras in the league. It will also be the last opportunity for Wayne to beat the Pirates. Riverview will drop out of the conference and join the Huron League next year.

Meanwhile, Belleville heads for Redford Union Friday night in an also "last meeting." R.U. is now affiliated with the Northwest Suburban Conference after playing seven years in the Suburban 8. Redford is coming off an impressive victory over Livonia Stevenson, a traditionally potent grid power.

Rogers, a 6-2, 195-pound junior runningback, confounded the Belleville defenses throughout the autumn evening as he scored all three Wayne touchdowns on runs of 6, 82, and 5. He also picked off a Mike Sampson pass on the Wayne one-yard line that erased Belleville's best scoring threat of the game.

Shumpert finished the night with 58 yards rushing on 10 carries.

Belleville received an exceptional performance from fullback Steve Cook who accounted for 89 yards in 14 tries.

Wayne got on the scoreboard early in the first quarter as the Zebras marched 63-yards in 10 plays and scored on Rogers' up-the-middle six-yard sprint. On the second play from scrimmage in that series Belleville lost Rod Meister, a junior, who

Franklin wins 'wild one', 12-9

Salem stopped on 'one-inch' line as game ends

Livonia Franklin is back.

Not that Coach Armand Vigna and his Patriots had gone anywhere, but after Franklin's disappointing 3-6 record of a year ago, skeptics began to talk as if the malaise was a permanent one.

The Livonians served notice that they are to be taken seriously again this year as they withstood a last quarter pitch by always dazzling Plymouth Salem to win a controversial 12-9 opener.

It was, of sorts, poetic justice. Two years ago Salem snatched a 6-3 victory on the Franklin gridiron with a last-minute desperation pass.

"No, I hadn't forgotten that game," Vigna said. "And, for a moment I thought we'd have a rerun. But I'll tell you, this is one of the most exciting games I have been involved with during two decades of football."

After Franklin had built up a 12-0 lead on a second quarter Steve Droz' three-yard off-tackle run and a third quarter pass from Droz to Steve Wright that covered 29-yards, Salem began a fierce counter-offensive that left the Rocks "inches shy" of the winning touchdown as time ran out.

Salem dominated the final 12 minutes of the game. Coach Tom Moshimer's team, for all its worth, also had the edge in statistics.

In that final quarter, Salem took advantage of a 19-yard Franklin punt which gave the Rocks possession at the Pats' 39-yard line. Ten plays later Craig Stack scored from the three to make it a 12-6 ball game. The Rocks also made the point-after.

The ensuing kickoff, Droz gave Franklin excellent field position with a 29-yard return, but the Patriots failed to penetrate the defenses. A bad snap gave Salem the ball on the Franklin 22-yard line with less than three minutes left.

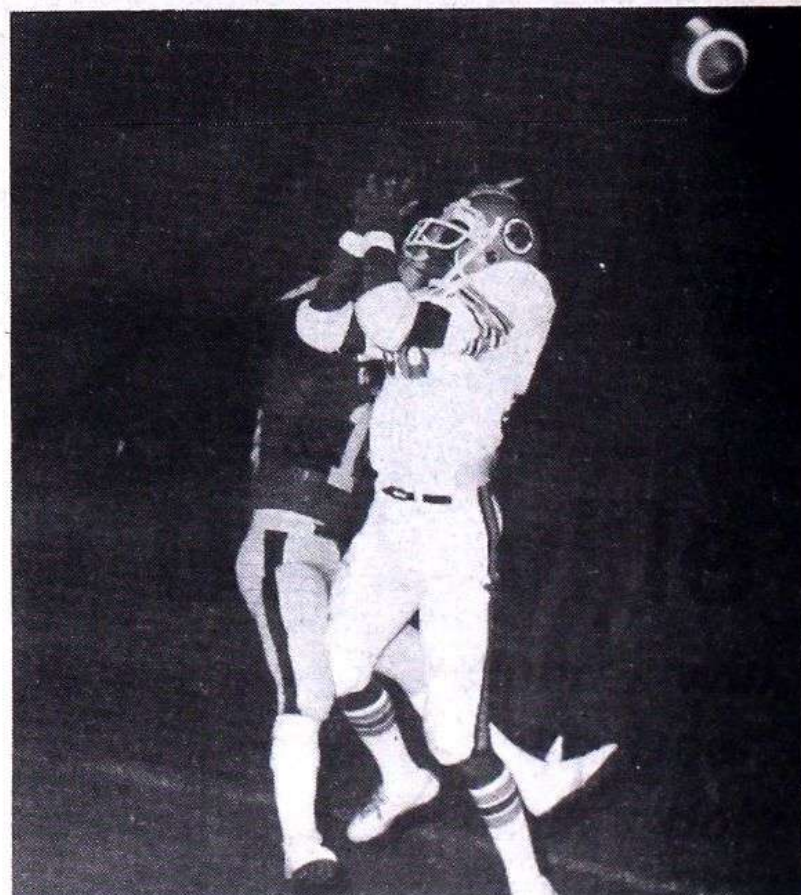

Franklin defenses held in the series. With their backs to their goal line, Franklin took over on its own

14. Vigna decided to give up a safety rather than run in that precarious territory, so gave up the two-points for the free kick.

With 1:06 left and the score 12-9, Salem drove from the Franklin 36 on a pass completion to the five. With time running out, the Rocks made it to the two and then to the inches line when Franklin's Steve Wright was injured on what was to be the last play.

When Wright was carried off the field, there was one second left and before Salem could get the ball off, the officials said time expired.

Pass interference

An over-anxious Wayne defender crashed into Belleville receiver Barry Reddick and the officials decide that there was pass interference. That kept a Tiger drive alive in the first quarter, but Wayne managed to escape further damage when Rick Rogers intercepted an errant aerial on the Zebras one-yard line. Wayne went on to win 18-0.

Robichaud ambushed by Oak Park

Bulldog defense is flat in season opener

Oak Park apparently wasn't impressed by the newspaper notices that Dearborn Heights Robichaud was a power to be reckoned with on the gridiron this season. Striking fast, the Parkers scored the first three touchdowns and tore apart the paper facade that the Bulldogs called defenses and went on to win a 27-6 first game victory over Coach Bob Yauck's rattled troops. The uneven outcome of the game brought the Dearborn Heights' players off their golden cloud, and now if they are to fulfill any fantasy about a championship it will have to be realized on the gridiron and not on paper. Robichaud proved openly vulnerable on defense which offered gifts that cost the visitors at least two touchdowns. A blocked punt and a bad snap paved the way for two other Oak Park scores. To say he was disappointed would be the understatement of the season but Yauck offered no excuses for his team's ineptness in the opener. "There was an over-all breakdown, poor execution, costly fumbles — you name it — we did it out there," he said. "I really didn't expect this. We are a better football team than we showed them. And I can't explain it, but it happens. Just ask anyone who has been in this business long enough." Robichaud began to flirt with disaster early. A bad snap from center that Oak Park recovered in the Bulldog end zone gave the Parkers their first six-points. The hosts made it a 12-0 ball game in the second quarter when they recovered a Bulldog fumble on the Robichaud 45-yard line and 10-plays later sophomore Clifford Gocha scored from the one.

After the ensuing kickoff, Robichaud lost the ball via a miscue and Oak Park recovered, again at midfield and subsequently scored after a sustained drive. Gocha again dashed over, this time from the two.

Frustrated, Robichaud struck back before the half. Quarterback Sidney Brisbane and Major Ragland hooked up a 35-yard pass play that set up the Bulldogs' lone touchdown. The successful pass put the visitors at the Oak Park 11 where Brisbane teamed up with Clyde Elba on a five-yard toss then, three plays later, the junior quarterback, with precise and intense moves, scored on a sneak.

After the half, Oak Park blocked a Mike Gillette punt and it gained possession of the ball on the Robichaud 30. The Parkers scored in five plays.

Brisbane, injured in the fourth period, provided the Bulldogs' with most of their offensive vibrations. He picked up 52 yards on 11 carries and also made four of 10 pass completions before heading to the sidelines with the injury.

"He'll be ready for Friday night's game at Clarenceville," Yauck said. On the doubtful list however is guard Randolph Long who has a leg injury.

And what about Clarenceville, coach?

"They beat St. Agatha in their opener," Yauck replied. "Clarenceville always has a respectable team."

Spartans pathetic against Annapolis

The intoxicating effects of opening day left the Spartans staggering and Cherry Hill Coach Jerry Pawloski seeking relief which could come in a week or two. Pawloski and his Spartans were tossed for a 33-8 non-conference setback at the hands of an Annapolis team that didn't win a game a year ago.

"I'm really disappointed," said the Spartan coach whose team posted an 8-1 won-lost record last year. "We made a lot of mistakes. It wasn't the way we expected to start the season."

Annapolis scored two touchdowns within a span of four minutes after the opening kick-off in the second half to break open what was a close game. The Dearborn Heights' gridders took a 6-0 lead midway in the first quarter, but a 50-yard pass-run touchdown play which featured quarterback Aaron Gregory and receiver Darrel Ivory tied the game early in the second quarter. Gregory scored the two-point conversion on an off-tackle play to put the Spartans ahead 8-6 with a little more than four minutes to play in the first half.

Annapolis came back and cracked Cherry Hill's aerial defense and gained the lead 13-8 at halftime, then, as the Spartans got clogged down in their own mistakes, the Cougars scored twice in four minutes to put the game out of reach in the third period.

"We really looked pathetic," Pawloski added, "and the less said about this one, the better."

Two possible reasons for the Spartans' decrepit state may be the absence of regulars Jef Hanneberg and Dave Dahlberg. Hanneberg is a 6-0, 238-pound tackle who is nursing an elbow injury, while Dahlberg, a guard, broke his wrist during a practice session.

Pawloski hopes to have his two key performers back in the line-up before the third week. That means, though, they will miss Friday night's Tri-River Conference opener at Dearborn Heights Crestwood.

Crestwood knocked off Taylor Center 7-0 last week, and is considered the pre-season conference title favorite. The Chargers have a veteran club which is also stocked with junior varsity gridders who last year were unscored upon and undefeated.

"Crestwood is the primary contender for the title," Pawloski pointed out. "Friday night is a big game for us."

Unscheduled stop

Though momentarily stalled at the line of scrimmage, Belleville's Steve Cook (44) kept pumping away and eventually broke loose on this play for a 26-yard sprint. That kept the Tigers moving, but the drive fizzled on the Wayne one-yard line where a pass interception killed the Tigers' best threat of the evening. Cook squirmed past Wayne defenders for 87 yards in 14 carries. (Story on Page 1).

DePorres defeats Inkster

A barrage of mistakes and missed assignments didn't help Inkster in its out-of-league football debut last Friday against reigning Class D state champs, St. Martin DePorres. DePorres capitalized on the Vikings' sloppy performance and knocked off Coach Arnie James's team, 32-14.

"There were just too many mistakes," Coach James said. "We didn't tackle the way we are capable of and there wasn't really much of anything for us to boast about."

Myron Harvey, a transplant from Ypsilanti, was the main thrust of DePorres' offensive machine as the speedy back amassed 132 yards in 13 carries and scored on runs of 57 and 13.

Inkster averted the shutout thanks to a 12-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Kim Hammons to Keith Huegley which capped a 40-yard sustained drive with Hammons and Huegley plus Derrick Stevenson responsible for most of the ball carrying.

In the final quarter the Vikings struck again as Hammons and Eric Crouch teamed up on a six-yard TD

Master Craft wins thriller, 11-10

A grand slam homer by Theresa Pappas lifted Master Craft to a thrilling 11-10 victory over Zantop Flyers in the finale of the Van Buren Township women's softball league recently.

Trailing 4-0 after the first inning, Master Craft fought a successful uphill battle the rest of the evening.

Ms. Pappas also doubled and singled, giving her three hits for the game and five runs batted in. Teammate Else Eberhardt chipped in three hits, including a homer while Myrt Voll had a single and double off of losing pitcher Alice Reeves.

Winner Barb Kalasz had her problems with Debbie Reynolds who slammed four hits off of the Craft hurler. Ms. Reynolds lashed three singles before blasting a roundtripper.

Jan McLain had a pair of hits and Alice Reeves collected two hits which drove in three runs for the losers.

Cougars take 2 of 3 games

Belleville's Cougars launched the football season by taking two of three games from the Westland Northstars.

Richard Kozolo scored twice and quarterback Matt Stoelton chipped in the extra point as the Cougars won the Freshmen game 13-0.

Meanwhile, Belleville's Junior Varsity got a pair of touchdowns from Mike Beckley while Eric

Glenn managed one of its two first downs of the game when quarterback Ken Liedel scampered around right end on a keeper for 12 yards. Ford held and Charlie Barescheer was back to punt for Glenn. Ford's defensive line surged in like water through a screen door, forcing Barescheer to run for his life. He was downed on his own 17 and three plays later, halfback Matt Mattern plunged two yards for the only first half score.

Leading 6-0 at halftime (although they had two TD passes called back, the Thunderbirds scored three touchdowns in less than eight minutes in the third quarter to make it 26-0. QB Chuck Davis fired an 11-yard scoring strike to end Bob Waldren to cap a 5-play, 37-yard drive with 7:39 left.

Powerful halfback Barry Nabozny, who rambled 148 yards on 16 carries, broke over the middle and zig-zagged his way 51 yards to make it 18-0 at 5:36. Bill Brennan added the point to up it to 19-0.

Edsel Ford's last score came on the first play of the fourth quarter when QB Davis, the coach's son, plunged over from the one-yard-line to make it 26-0.

The Thunderbirds rolled up 273 yards on 42 carries and added 68 yards on five pass completions for 15 first downs. Meanwhile, Glenn's attack was blunted by a fierce Edsel Ford defensive unit which held the Rockets to a mere 83 yards on 29 carries and a minus five yards passing as Glenn failed to complete even one aerial in five attempts.

Three Ford kicks into Glenn's end zone, two kickoffs and a punt, kept the Rockets buried deep in their own territory the entire second half. One glimmer of light was tailback Scott Thornton, who struggled 46 yards in 12 carries against the stifling Thunderbird defense.

After giving up four more points in their opener than they did the entire season last year, the Rockets now must fire up against Northville or face a "malfunction" the rest of the year.

pass. That was set up by an Earl Taylor fumble recovery.

Despite the lopsided score, it could have been worst had it not been for the defensive heroics of linebackers Taylor, Huegley and Thaddeous Forman.

Before opening up the Suburban Athletic Conference campaign on Sept. 21 at home to title favorite, Highland Park, Inkster will hit the road to Jackson Saturday night where it is scheduled to meet Lumen Christi.

Coach James hopes to have injured Chris Thompson, a 6-2, 180-pound tackle, back in the line-up. Thompson sustained a knee injury and wasn't dressed for the opener.

sustained a broken ankle.

Belleville came right back. Pete Tavana's kick went to John Losen who made it to the Tiger 36 before he was cut down. Then, Tiger QB Sampson used Cook on two successful plays, and Cook refused to stop after being hit by several Wayne gridders and made it to the Wayne 38 for a 26-yard gain. A pass interference against Wayne on the next play gave the host the ball on the Wayne 20-yard line.

Then, Cook again broke loose to the Wayne 5 where, after two troubled plays, Sampson tried a pass that Rogers picked off and ran back to the Wayne 40 where he was shoved out of bounds. A clip eventually put the ball back on the Wayne 12-yard line where the Zebras went into action with 3:06 left in the quarter.

On the second play from scrimmage, Rogers again stunned and startled Belleville with a morale-wrecking 82-yard touchdown run which gave Wayne a 12-0 edge. Tavana's attempt for the point-after was wide of the uprights.

Belleville had possession of the ball for the next six plays after the ensuing kickoff when the quarter ended.

Gary Mazurek's pass interception gave Wayne the ball early in the second quarter but the rest of the action was in midfield the rest of the half.

Again, it was during their first possession of the third quarter that Wayne scored its third and what proved to be its final TD of the game.

Belleville started the second half with a touch-back when the kickoff rolled into the end zone. The Tigers had the ball for six plays thanks to a face-mask penalty, but gave it up on a punt to their own 47.

In its first series of the half, Wayne used up 10 plays and scored on Roger's stretch into the end zone. The Zebras elected to go for the two-point conversion and failed.

Belleville could not muster a serious threat the rest of the way. Wayne also dominated the stats as the Zebras had the edge 11-9 in first downs, rushed for 251 yards as compared to Belleville's 87 while the Tigers made good on three of seven passes for 48 yards. Wayne tried one pass and that missed its target.

Bruce Rize led the Wayne defenders with 14 tackles, while Belleville's Pride Bryant and Scott Forrester came up with commendable performances as defensive ends for the Tigers.

mud who compiled 166 yards on 22 carries.

In contrast, Canton failed to register a single first down and that was the first time in Schuele's 17 years as coach that one of his team's had been shutout.

"I'm been on the other side when we didn't allow a team a first down, but this is the first time anyone has done this to one of my teams."

Obviously disappointed, Schuele vowed some changes. He said that there will be some readjustments and reshuffling, "and I'm going to look at some people at different spots."

The only bright spots in the dismal Canton opener were provided by Steve Gray and Johnny Tarr, a couple of hard-hitting defensive halfbacks who prevented the Bulldogs from making it a complete farce.

The bewildered Chiefs hope to find stability in Dearborn Heights Friday afternoon when they take on Annapolis in a 3:30 ball game. The second nonleaguer could tell Schuele if the opener was "just a bad case of jitters". Annapolis ungraciously punished Cherry Hill, 33-8, last Saturday which aroused the following comment from Schuele.

"Annapolis just destroyed Cherry hill," Schuele said. "They are big and they can move the ball on the ground as well as in the air. Their QB hit on 4 of 5 passes. So we're going to know a lot about ourselves after the next game."

Wheat Germ Vegetable Roulade

Versatile vacuum packed wheat germ is a super food for fitness. It is at home in gourmet dishes as well as in meatloaf or the cereal bowl. In fact, many of the elegant lighter entrees made with cheese and eggs benefit greatly from wheat germ. Wheat germ's subtle nutlike taste adds flavor interest and extra heartiness. Furthermore, wheat germ contributes valuable nutrients like high quality protein, iron, the B vitamins and vitamin E. This unique combination of so many important nutrients makes wheat germ a favorite food with health conscious cooks.

The words alone, Wheat Germ Vegetable Roulade, tell you to expect something special. Just one look and nibble confirm the fact that it is, indeed, party fare. Furthermore, for all this entree's impressive appearance and eating qualities, it is relatively inexpensive to make. This elegant idea for spring entertaining came from the Kretschmer wheat germ consumer information specialists. Make the colorful vegetable filling with zucchini or broccoli.

Basically, the roulade is a rolled souffle with a savory vegetable filling. Wheat germ and parsley are blended into the airy egg mixture before it is spread in a shallow baking pan. After baking, the sheet of souffle is topped with a mixture of sauteed zucchini, mushrooms, onion and wheat germ. Then it's rolled to form the roulade. Follow the step by step recipe directions and handle carefully. A delicate wine sauce is marvelous spooned over the roulade. The sauce recipe made with milk and white wine goes together quickly and easily. Accompany the wheat germ vegetable roulade with a crisp salad, finger rolls and fresh seasonal fruit for a beautiful food party menu.

2 cups milk

4 eggs, separated
1/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup vacuum packed wheat germ, regular
1/2 cup minced parsley
1 medium zucchini,* diced (about 1 cup)
1/4 pound mushrooms, sliced
1/2 cup finely chopped onion
1/2 cup grated parmesan cheese
1/2 teaspoon rosemary leaves, crushed
1/4 teaspoon thyme leaves, crushed
Minced parsley for garnish
Wine Sauce
* or 1 cup frozen broccoli cuts

Melt 6 tablespoons butter. Mix in flour until smooth. Stir in milk, egg yolks and salt until well blended. Cook over medium heat until sauce thickens and comes to a boil. Remove from heat. Stir in 1/2 cup wheat germ and parsley. Beat egg whites until stiff peaks form. Fold into egg yolk mixture. Line greased 15 1/2 x 10 1/2 x 1-inch pan with wax paper. Grease paper. Spread wheat germ egg mixture evenly in pan. Bake in 350 degrees oven 20 minutes. Invert onto foil. Cover and keep warm in low oven. Saute zucchini, mushrooms and onion in remaining 2 tablespoons butter 3 to 5 minutes over medium heat. Remove from heat. Stir in remaining 1/4 cup wheat germ, parmesan cheese, rosemary and thyme. Spread over baked wheat germ layer. Roll up, beginning from short end, lifting foil to help roll. Sprinkle with parsley. Serve with Wine Sauce. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

WINE SAUCE: Melt 3 tablespoons butter and stir in 2 tablespoons flour. Add two-thirds cup milk. Cook, stirring constantly until sauce thickens and comes to a boil. Stir in one-third cup dry white wine, dash salt and dash white pepper. Heat through. Makes 1 cup sauce.

Rotary Anns' fashion show on stage tonight

The Romulus Rotary Anns have switched seasons for their annual fashion show — from spring to fall — in order to feature cool weather togger for a change of pace — and with "Changing Colors" as the apt theme for the event.

Seventeen women have been gathered by Kureth's Apparel of Belleville to model a full fall line of sweaters as well as everything from lingerie to evening attire. Of special interest this autumn will be the rejuvenation of "old" fabrics — flannels, corduroys, woolens, velvets, tweeds — which are being teamed up in interesting and unusual ways.

Kathleen Kureth Rennell, fashion coordinator for tonight's show, will narrate the 7:30 p.m. extravaganza. Tickets at $2.50 per person will include refreshments and door prizes, says Ruth Hopson, general chairman.

Seventy-two showings will be made by Kristi Sears, Lee Nagy, Becki Vernier, Nancy Kahn, Amy Hopson, Ruth Hopson and Sue Harner. Also adding their bit of pirouetting will be Sue Harner, Lynn Carr, Kathy Stabnau, Pat Touse, Mary Ann Emerson, Pat Tator, Kitten Florian, Ethel Lovette, Ruth Davies and Thelka Demetriou.

Senior citizen ID cards ready

Identification cards will be issued on Sept. 11 to senior citizens living in Van Buren, Huron and Sumpter Townships as well as those living in the city of Belleville. Interested parties may pick up their cards at the September Days Senior Citizens Center in the Van Buren Township Hall on Tyler Road. The I.D. card identifies the senior citizen and entitles the carrier to discounts on purchases made or services received from those merchants participating in the Discount Program.

Van Buren Township Parks and Recreation Department and the Belleville Kiwanis Club are co-sponsors of the Discount Program.

Hill, Otto marry at Ypsi church

Nancy Kaye Otto, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Otto of 130 Angola St., Belleville, became the bride of Randal L. Hill of 33160 Florence, Garden City, on Sept. 1 at Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Ypsilanti.

The Rev. Carl J. Leach presided at the double ring ceremony before the immediate family.

For the 2 p.m. rite Mrs. Toni Thornton of Romulus served as matron of honor and Sylvia Simon of Romulus as bridesmaid.

The bridegroom, the son of Mrs. Lois M. Hill of Kattanning, Pa. and the late Lawrence K. Hill, asked Pasquale Marchionda to be best man.

Methodist Church setting for Bluhm-Lucius wedding

A week-long honeymoon at St. Petersburg Beach and Orlando, Fla. followed the Aug. 11 marriage of Patti L. Lucius and Ronald L. Bluhm, both of Belleville.

Over 200 relatives and friends witnessed the double ring ceremony which joined the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burl Lucius of Bak Rd., Belleville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bluhm of Brain St., Belleville.

For the 7 p.m. rite conducted by The Rev. Joy E. Arthur, the altar of the First United Methodist Church of Belleville was appointed with pink carnations, white daisies and two asparagus ferns. Mrs. Glenn Miller was at the organ for the processional and recessional with Joan Van Buhler and the bride's brother, Bobby Lucius, singing a duet to guitar accompaniment.

Escorted to the sanctuary by her father, Patti appeared in a toe-touching organza gown designed with a lifted bodice frosted with Venice lace, sweetheart neckline, clear bishop sleeves and chapel train.

Her lace-trimmed veil of silk illusion drifted to waltz length from a little lace headpiece. A bouquet of white silk carnations and roses, statice and a lavender-throated white orchid completed her bridal finery.

As maid of honor, Kristy Martin of Brighton donned a dusty mauve qiana frock, tucked sprigs of statice in her hair and carried a bouquet of white silk carnations, pale pink silk roses and status.

Virginia Bacon of Saline and Kathy Morris of Belleville wore identical pale pink gowns for their roles as bridesmaids.

The bridegroom asked his friend William Zehmdak of Northville to serve as best man. The corps of groomsmen included George McBath of Belleville; Gerald Bluhm of Southfield and Bobby Lucius of Belleville, brothers of the bridal couple, and Larry Farr of Belleville.

Immediately after the ceremony the receiving line formed in the church foyer, Mrs. Lucius, the bride's mother, greeting guests in a dusty rose qiana gown and Mrs. Bluhm in pale pink qiana. Both were honored with corsages of white silk roses.

The Fellowship Hall was the setting for the buffet dinner and reception which followed.

The newlyweds graduated from Belleville High School in 1973. The new Mrs. Bluhm later attended Washtenaw Community College, earning an associate degree in 1975. She currently works as a medical receptionist in Ann Arbor while her husband is employed at Hydra-Matic Division of General Motors in Ypsilanti.

The rehearsal dinner, hosted by the Donald Bluhms, was held at Roma's of Garden City.

Reception marks 50th anniversary

A reception honoring the golden wedding day of Mr. and Mrs. John Hollar of 183 West Columbia Ave., Belleville, was held Aug. 19 at Howard Johnson's of Ann Arbor.

Hosts and hostesses at the party were their children, Barbara and her husband, Dr. J. John Koch of Ann Arbor; and Don and his wife, Lois, with their two sons, Kevin and Brian of Frederick, Md.

For the happy occasion Mrs. Hollar donned a 2-piece multicolor print dress of polyester to which she pinned her gold-tipped white corsage.

A large, tiered wedding cake, decorated in white roses and gold leaves, and topped with a large "50" graced the serving table.

The bride and groom cut the first piece of cake as the photographer recorded the event.

On their wedding day, Aug. 20, 1929, Mrs. Hollar was Ruth Gilleland of Eldon, Mo. She and her future spouse journeyed to Jefferson City, Mo. to recite their wedding vows. Immediately after they departed for Colorado where they were to live and teach. Their two children, Barbara and Don were born there.

The Hollars have resided in Belleville for the past 36 years, arriving from Durango, Colo. in 1943.

Mr. Hollar taught social studies at the John F. Kennedy High School in Taylor and retired in 1967. Mrs. Hollar taught sixth and fourth grades at the Edgemont School in Belleville and retired in 1966.

Their hobbies include woodworking and saltwater fishing for snook for Mr. Hollar, and flower gardening and shell collecting for Mrs. Hollar.

Pink touch added to Welt home

Two-year-old Derek Welt has a new baby sister, Elizabeth Rene, who was born at 10:42 a.m. Aug. 29 at Garden City Osteopathic Hospital.

His future playmate weighed 7 lbs. — 11 ozs. and measured 22 inches.

The youngsters are the children of Daniel and Janice Welt of 37751 Walnut, Romulus, and the grandparents of Edmond and Gloyce Lauth and Everett and Shirley Welt, all of Belleville.

Three great-grandmothers receiving word of the newest member of their family trees were Monica Lauth and Cecilia Szykowski, both of Detroit, and Jennie Martin of Canton.

Elizabeth's mother is the former Janice Lauth.

Cindy Melcher is engaged

MISS MELCHER

Cindy Melcher of Belleville and John Williams of Fulton, N. Y. are engaged and making plans for a March wedding. Announcement of their betrothal comes from Donald and Virginia Melcher of 41300 Bernis Rd., Belleville, parents of the bride-elect.

A 1971 graduate of Romulus High School, Miss Melcher holds an associate degree in nursing from Henry Ford Community College. At the present time she is working at Wyandotte General Hospital as afternoon charge nurse in cardiac care.

Her fiancé, who resides at 268 S. Fourth Street in Fulton, is the son of Joseph and Patricia Williams of 14743 S. W. 42nd Ave., Ocala, Fla.

After receiving his associate degree from Auburn Community College, he attended Buffalo State University and is now resident manager of the Oswego County Opportunities Program for the Handicapped in Oswego, N.Y.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church in New Boston has been reserved for the young couple's March 15 altar date.

Renton, Ocasio wed in Indianapolis, Ind.

Trinity Lutheran Church in Indianapolis, Ind. was the setting Sept. 1 for the double ring rite which united Deborah Roxanne Ocasio of 1026 N. La Salle St., Indianapolis, and James Terry Renton of Platt Road, Ann Arbor, in holy matrimony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald J. Miller of Indianapolis and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Renton of 8181 Wayne Rd., Westland, formerly of Belleville.

For her wedding day, Deborah chose a polyester, floor-length gown fashioned with a Mandarin collar, long sleeves and an empire waistline.

A little crescent cap secured her bridal veil and pink roses, snapdragons and blue silk roses comprised her bouquet.

Preceding the bride and her stepfather down the aisle were the maid of honor, Susan K. Sorrentino, and bridesmaid, Linda Dillehay, both of Indianapolis.

Their gowns were identical except for the pink roses which imprinted Miss Sorrentino's white dress and the blue on Miss Dillehay's. They wore headpieces of ribbon and lace and held single long-stemmed red roses. Four-year old Dena Sandlin as flowergirl wore a little yellow and white frock and white headband as she scattered rose petals along the aisleway.

Best man was John O'Dell of Ypsilanti and ushers were Bob Budrick of Belleville and Gary McGinnis of Indianapolis, Ind.

At the reception which followed in Nottingham Village Clubhouse in Indianapolis, the bride's mother greeted guests in a lace-trimmed blue gown to which she pinned her corsage of blue silk roses. Mrs. Renton, the bridegroom's mother, chose to wear a beige polyester gown with a companion jacket. Her corsage was comprised of melon-colored silk roses.

Among those congratulating the young couple were the bridegroom's sisters and their husbands, Jan and Harold Belanger and Joyce and Daryl Hamrick and 7-week-old daughter, Julie Kay; their uncles and aunts, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Renton and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Renton; and close friends, Norman Wisniewski and Jim Jurewicz, all from Belleville; and the bridegroom's God-parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ori Bordine of Milan.

David Allen is his name

David Allen and Ethel Thacker of Canada, Ky., formerly of Belleville, are announcing the birth of their first child, a son, on Aug. 27.

The new heir, who arrived at 10:53 a.m. at Pikeville Methodist Hospital in Pikeville, Ky., was named David Allen Jr., measured 20½ inches and weighed 7 lbs. - 12 oz.

He is the new grandson of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Jacobs of Belleville and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Thacker of Kimper, Ky., and the great-grandson of Mrs. Joe Thacker of Canada, Ky.; Myrtle Jacobs of Fairborn, Ohio and Mrs. Harris of Kimper, Ky.

The new mother is the former Ethel Jacobs.

Blancks host reunion

Harold and Phyllis Blanck of Belleville Road, Belleville, played host Sunday, Sept. 2, at a family reunion in honor of two of their sons who were "home on leave."

Carl, who's serving with the U. S. Navy at Jacksonville, Fla., was on a 30-day leave with his wife and two children, Warren and Kelley. Mark Harden, an Army man stationed in Giessen, Germany also had 30 days to enjoy with his family before returning abroad.

Others attending the get-together were Cynthia Harden of Belleville; Kevin Harden at home; and Mrs. Blanck's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lentz of Lodi, Ohio.

Guests from Norway visit Roberts home

By Mrs. Joseph Spring
699-4021

Recent guests at the High Street home of Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Roberts were friends from Trondheim, Norway — Mr. and Mrs. Bjorn Slagsvold and daughter, Mari, the family of Guri Slagsvold who spent last year with the Robertses while attending Belleville High School.

The Slagsvolds were enroute to the University of Maryland where Mr. Slagsvold will spend a year doing research in physics and astronomy.

Mrs. Thomas (Marian) Payne from Glendale, Ariz. has returned home after having spent several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Conklin of Haggerty Road, and other relatives and friends.

Mrs. Ted Stickney of Detroit spent the holiday weekend with her mother, Mrs. Harold Leschinsky of East Columbia Avenue.

Mrs. Ray (Louise) VanSickle of Liberty Street returned home on Sunday, Sept. 2, after having spend a month with her grandson and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ferguson, and daughter at Fort Riley and Manhattan, Kans. While there they all enjoyed a week at Lazy Bar Ranch in Colorado and sightseeing at Colorado Springs.

After having spent a week at a seminar held at the Rehabilitation Center at Northwestern University, Miss Paula Dolph spent the holiday weekend with her parents, the Albert Dolphs of Edgar Street.

On Labor Day they were joined by Mrs. Dolph's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Butler of Milan, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Dolph and son Jeffrey of West Huron River Drive for a cookout and picnic

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stevens of East Huron River Drive and daughter, Suzanne, of Liberty Street, were guests of Mrs. Steven's mother, Mrs. Chester Shoup of Morenci, on Saturday of last week.

Gathering at the cabin at Harrison of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Johnson Sr. of Roland Street for a long Labor Day weekend were members of their family — Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Stout and family of Clarence Street; Mr. and Mrs. Amos Johnson Jr. of Wabash Street and Mr. and Mrs. Danny Williams and family of Chase Road, Romulus. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Priebe and family of West Columbia Avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sawers of Belleville Road.

Liberty Street.

Dinner guests last Thursday at the Tyler Road home of Mr. and Mrs. George Robson were Detroit friends, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Kraft and Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Wrixon.

Mrs. R.G. Atyeo of Liberty Street spent the Labor Day weekend with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lent Koop at Dearborn.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe

Parker of the South Service Drive and grand children, Courtney and David Sikes of Crandall Court, spent the past two weeks at their cottage at Glennie. They were joined over the holiday weekend by the children's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Sikes.

Mrs. Norman Miller of Second Street spend several days last week with her son, Elmer and wife at Garden City.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones of Bellbrook, Ohio and their daughter and husband, Debbie and Jim Hildreth of Dayton, Ohio, were recent weekend guests of Mrs. Jones' parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Haft of Church Street.

Mrs. Patricia Little and sons, William and Ronald of Westland and Mrs. B.P. Hopson of Belleville Road were Labor Day weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Henderson of Belleville Road at their cottage on Mercury Lake in the Irish Hills. Mr. and Mrs. Walter James of Clay Road spent the weekend at Tazewell, Tenn.

potpourri

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

We are currently harvesting something new in our garden this year, something I thought a bit unique and "foreign" to most people. It was with a bit of chagrin that my "I-Know-Something-You-Don't-Know" approach was met with a few blase, "so-what" responses.

On first springing, "Have you ever had spaghetti squash?" on my fellow chefs and having several nonchalantly reply, "Oh, yeah", I felt as if I'd pulled a Rip Van Winkle and this "phenomenon" had occurred while I was Z-Z-Z-ing off.

But whenever the startled answer was, "Spaghetti squash? What's that?" I knew I wasn't completely off the earth's surface (or I'd had lots of company in my slumbers.)

Anyway — mid-way through the growing season, I chanced out to the garden plot to watch the weeds grow and noticed lots of little globular objects getting a start in life and lazily sprawling into their neighbors' territory. Thinking them to be melons, I attacked BG that night with, "What the heck are you doing growing WATERMELONS in that tiny garden?"

After a few "Wha's" and other indistinct pronouns, he realized I'd been tiptoeing through his vegetation and, after calming me, explained "it" was the very item I'd been so curious about the year before — spaghetti squash or vegetable spaghetti, which his sister Bea had told me about.

Since the first (now oval-shaped) veggie ripened, we've been having a ball experimenting with it in our kitchen (I playing scientist, BG my guinea pig.)

Spaghetti squash has one very decided advantage in that its pasta-like consistency has a very low caloric value and, as such, is a weight watcher's dream.

Anyone with a mania for Italian dishes (but can't quite cut them because of their potential for bulges) will ADORE this squash. Last night I made my regular spaghetti sauce but rather than using linguini, fetucini or any other starchy base, I simply scooped out and fluffed the innards of a medium squash I'd baked in the microwave for about 10 minutes.

You just won't believe the resemblance of the squash to spaghetti — it looks like the strands awash with butter because of its yellow color.

Here's another quick and easy (and low-caloried) recipe I tried during the week.

SPAGHETTI SQUASH CHEESE BAKE

- 4 slices bacon, cooked and crumbled
- 1 cup cheddar cheese, grated
- salt and pepper
- 1 1/2 cups baked spaghetti squash

Bake squash according to directions for acorn squash in your cookbook. Combine all ingredients with fluffed-up squash. Place in casserole and bake in moderate (350 degree) oven or microwave until cheese melts. Serves 2.

With Michigan's fall apple crop about to hit the farmer's markets, it might be nice to know what apples are all about. (Ever go to make baked apples or sauce and be in a quandry as to which variety to use?)

With a cuisine circular I receive each month as my guide, here are the facts. But, as always, testing, tasting and trying each kind yourself is the true denominator for what's used in your kitchen.

Mc INTOSH — Crisp and tart, delicious eaten out of hand and one of the best for cider because of its velvety smoothness.

JONATHAN — A brilliant red apple whose smell is the epitome of an apple orchard or cider mill. Its favorite home is Michigan and it's excellent in a salad (unpeeled), as a snack or sliced with cheese.

NORTHERN SPY — Red all over and striped with yellow. A very juicy variety so add a bit more flour or tapioca when baking it in a crust. Super for applesauce; some claiming it the best apple ever produced.

DELICIOUS — MY favorite for Waldorf salad and BG's favorite eating apple. Others prefer it with lots of lemon in an old-fashioned pie. A good apple but mealy when old.

ROME — Too thick a skin to be enjoyed raw but with the decided advantage of holding its shape when baked — a natural for baked apples and also a good one for pie.

WINESAP — Spicy and handsome when served in a tall wine glass with raisins and walnuts.

GREENING — If you dream of a tart apple pie, this one (with a wedge of cheddar) is for you.

GRANNY SMITH (and don't I wish it WERE named after me!) — A super eating apple, best in spring, fresh from Australia.

There are many, many more types we could ramble on about (some 20 varieties and 6500 forms, experts claim) but we'll just go with the surface, the main ones, at present.

NOW FOR SOME FACTS ABOUT APPLES: Did you know that little or no sugar exists in apple butter... that it takes about one pound of apples to make three cups of sliced apples... that in China, farmers grafted apple trees 20 centuries ago... that just some orange juice can sweeten your applesauce while cooking... that 200 million bushels of apples are used each year — and that's 90 apples per person. (BG can top that!)

OUR FEELERS for tailgate suggestions brought this one in from a Michigan fan in Romulus who, darn it, wishes to remain anonymous. Thank you for your call.

Our donor says that they attend games with their three boys who are all avid hot dog eaters. So — over the years she's tried to come up with that "something different" for the weeks they picnic prior to the games. As the "fellas" grew older, their tastes changed and "mother" got more adventuresome with her cooking. This recipe, she says, is a favorite of EVERYONE who shares their repast before the games.

50-YARDLINE FRANKS

- 12 frankfurters and 12 buns
- 2 onions, sliced
- 1 bottle beer
- 2 lbs. sauerkraut, drained
- 1/2 tsp. caraway seed

Saute onions in a little butter or bacon fat. Add sauerkraut, beer and caraway seeds. Cook a few minutes. Transfer to a casserole and bake 1/2 hour at 375 degrees, covered. Remove cover, layer with franks and bake another 20 minutes. Keep hot by placing in an insulated bag or chest or wrapping tightly in single layers of newspaper. When you pull down that tailgate, there's a meal in a bun or on a plate; however you prefer it.

THE BOTTOM LINE: People can be divided into three groups: those who make things happen — those who watch things happen — and those who wonder what happened.

2. In Memoriam

IN LOVING MEMORY TIMOTHY CURTIS ALLEN

Just when his days seemed brightest: Just when his hopes seemed best: God called him from amongst us. Just four years ago, Sept. 12. Think of him still as the same: He is not dead, he is just away. To his eternal rest, In God's own heavenly embrace. Sadly missed & loved. Grandma, Grandpa, Billie, Rickie and the Michalski Family. My Brother "Jerry" is missed terribly by me & his friends. Ronald "Butch" Watkins, 3666 Richard, Wayne.

Want Ads are the busy little ads which appear each day in the Classified section of your newspaper... telling other people about some item you'd like to sell and telling you who has that hard-to-find item you've been wanting to buy. And it's ever-so-easy to place your own Want Ad. Just give us a call. We'll help you word your ad so it will appeal to the very person you want to reach.

EARL KEIM REALTY Home is the place where character is built, where sacrifices for the happiness of others are made, and where love has taken its abode. A home should be a stockade, a refuge for the flaming arrows of anxiety, tension and worry. A place to drop your cares, to find happiness and realize the wisdom of simplicity. A place to gather your family together, where dinner time can be a time of candlelight, music and conversation, serious and gay. Share a great thought and discuss it. Say a prayer of thankfulness for your blessings. Home is the place to prepare for tomorrow, that you may go forth as a new person, with a new spirit, to meet triumphantly the challenges of the outside world. We here at KEIM have many houses - but we need YOU to make them a home. Call or stop by today to see our fine selections. THE HELPFUL PEOPLE 	WESTLAND OFFICE 505 N.
